19TH YEAR. NO. 268. EAST LIVERPOOL, O., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 1902. TWO CENTS.

A NINE-FOOT CHANNEL AS SOON AS POSSIBLE

Declaration Favoring This and a Sufficient Appropriation Adopted at Parkersburg Meeting.

THE SENTIMENT UNANIMOUS FOR EARLY WORK

Parkersburg, W. Va., November 12.—(Special)—Nearly 600 prominent and influential men of the Ohio valley make up the convention of the Ohio Valley Improvement association. They are sanguine and enthusiastic beyond all expectation.

It was almost 10 o'clock today before the convention was called to order. The following officers were elected: President, John L. Vance; treasurer, J. D. Parker; secretary and general manager, E. P. Wilson, Cincinnati; vice presidents, George H. Anderson, Pittsburg; Huling H. Quarrier, Wheeling; Albert Bettinger, Cincinnati; Colonel W. W. Hite, C. J. Murphy, Marion Wright.

The Wellsville delegation spent this morning at Blennerhasset island viewing the site of the proposed dam to be built there.

S. D. Cochrane, of Kittanning, chairman of the Allegheny River Improvement association, was the first speaker today.

Congressman-elect Woodyard, of Parkersburg, addressed the convention, saying that when he went to congress he would give his time to furthering the improvement of the Ohio.

Captain John F. Dravo, the veteran river and coal man of Pittsburg and Beaver, was then introduced as the youthful member of the convention. He was loudly cheered and applauded when he took the platform to speak. The captain showered flattery on the Wabash railroad for certain favors to river interests, heraiding the railroad as the friend of the river interests.

J. B. Finley, chairman of the resolution committee, presented a resolution requesting that steps be taken to raise $25,000 to defray the expenses for the coming year; also the following:

"Resolved, That this association requests of the congress of the United States to provide at its adjourned session for a survey of the Ohio river from the Little Miami to Cairo, with the object of preparing plans and estimates for the improvement of the river between the points named, so as to provide a nine-foot stage at low water; that the making of this request be put in the hands of the executive council with full discretion as to procedure."

The resolutions were adopted by a rising vote. Subscriptions were then asked for. Mr. Gibbs, president of the Business Men's league, pledged in behalf of Cincinnati organizations $6,000; Wheeling board of trade, $200; Mr. Holt, Beaver, $25; Builders' exchange, Beaver county, $25; Pittsburg Chamber of Commerce, $200, and business interests, $5,000. Many towns pledged from $10 to $250. Evansville was selected as the next place of meeting.

The East Liverpool delegation left for home this afternoon. The members are enthusiastic over the success of the meeting.

W. E. ..ells was made chairman of the sub-committee on resolutions and W. H. Surles a member of the committee on nominations.

Dr. Marshall and W. L. Thompson said today that all are highly gratified with the success of the meeting, and that its influence on the nation will tell for good.

If the contemplated trip to Washington to see President Roosevelt in the interests of an improved Ohio river is made, the East Liverpool delegation will be in evidence.

Yesterday afternoon was devoted almost wholly to speeches, and every phase of the river question was argued by powerful speakers. The speeches were all of the same tenor, favoring immediate steps by the government for improving the river from Pittsburg to Cairo, with a guaranteed appropriation sufficient to allow the work to proceed with all possible haste. A nine-foot channel, instead of one of six feet, as contemplated in present plans, is the well-nigh universal demand.

The East Liverpool delegates, well armed with statistics, are catching the ears of congressmen wherever possible and making telling arguments. A delegation of business men from the Ohio valley to go to Washington, call upon the president and urge him to take up the matter of Ohio river improvement in his forthcoming message has virtually been decided upon.

Of the many excellent speeches made at the convention yesterday afternoon none were better nor more effective than those of Congressmen B. B. Dovener, and C. H. Grosvenor and R. W. Tayler. A Summary of Congressman Tayler's remarks follows. Captain Dovener said he had always been a friend of river improvement and was ready to work and act for it until barges could be loaded with coal at the Monongahela river headwaters and floated to the gulf of Mexico. He predicted that this would be brought about in the next ten years.

Gen. Grosvenor made a characteristic address, saying that the people of Ohio must not go to Washington begging, but demanding as a right the money for the great improvement.

Other congressmen who spoke were Kehoe, Stanley and Shirley, of Kentucky, and Hemenway, of Indiana. Congressman-elect H. Kirke Porter, of Pittsburg, and Attorney J. Francis Burke, of that city, ably presented the needs of the Pittsburg manufacturers and the interests of the people in general in the proposed improvement. R. S. Holt spoke for the Beaver valley.

Governor Nash was kept away by illness.

The delegates are being royally entertained and the little city is being warmly praised for its hospitality.

One of the encouraging features of the convention was the fact that every one of the congressmen who spoke yesterday agreed to give his hearty support to the plan for the immediate improvement of the river.

A petition will be circulated through the Ohio valley for signatures asking

DECREE OF OUSTER

IN THE HANOVER TOWNSHIP ELECTION DISPUTE.

George W. Conser, Who Has Been Acting as Trustee, Must Step Out.

Lisbon, November 12.—(Special.)—In the case of Ohio on relation of George Figley against George W. Conser, a decree of ouster was issued against Conser, who has been acting as trustee of Hanover township to which he was declared elected last spring, and of which Figley was declared the legal incumbent.

The action was brought in quo warranto proceedings. Several questionable ballots were wrongfully rejected that should have been counted for Figley.

Judge Laubie decided the legislature had not provided any law for contesting an election, and the action was regular. Judge Laubie gave a lengthy opinion in the case. He gave the election officers credit for being honestly mistaken. The judge counted four of the rejected votes for Figley and one for Conser, giving the election to the plaintiff by a majority of two. An application for a new trial was rejected, and defendant's attorney will file a bill of exceptions.

HURT ON A TRAIN

James W. Davis Thrown Against a Window And Most Painfully Injured.

While en route home on the train yesterday from Salineville, James W. Davis, of Jefferson street, was thrown violently against a car window by the sudden lurching of the train and received very painful injuries to his right hand and head.

He fell partially through the window breaking the glass into smithereens. His head was cut badly and his hand gashed in several places. Upon arriving home Mr. Davis had his wounds dressed by a local physician.

RAILROAD MERGER HAS BEEN EFFECTED

Another Step Toward Connecting Lisbon and Western and Wabash Routes.

LINE ACROSS THE COUNTY

As Well As a Trolley Road From Youngstown to Lisbon And East Liverpool Among the Projects That Now Appear Promising.

Lisbon, November 12.—(Special)—The consolidation agreement between the Pittsburg, Lisbon and Western Railroad company and the Shenango and Beaver Valley Railway company was filed yesterday with the secretary of state of Ohio and the secretary of state of Pennsylvania.

This completes the legal work in the reorganization proceedings which have been going on, whereby the new Pittsburg, Lisbon and Western Railway company acquired the Salem railroad and the Pittsburg, Lisbon & Western railroad, and has planned for extensions to a connection with the Wheeling and Lake Erie railroad on the west and with New Castle and Pittsburg on the east. A corps of engineers has been at work in this connection for the past six months and final surveys have been completed over most of the projected extensions.

Railroad men say a link of 24 miles must be built to connect the Wheeling and Lake Erie and Wabash with the newly consolidated lines, making a second Wabash line from Chicago to Pittsburg and another east and west through trunk line by connection with the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg road.

Congressman R. W. Tayler is believed to have retired from political life to devote his time to looking after the legal matters in connection with the new lines. His law firm effected the consolidation of the two roads.

Columbiana county, and Lisbon in particular, will be greatly blessed within the next eighteen months by railroad enterprises. We are sure of a steam railroad line through the county, by the way of Lisbon, from New Galilee west to some point beyond Bayard, says the Lisbon Patriot. This line is intended to be later on, a through line from New York to Chicago and St. Louis. It will take in Pittsburg at once, and divide the trade with the Pennsylvania company. Lisbon will likely be made the end of a division and here will be located railroad shops of great dimensions. The western part of the county will be given railroad facilities to reach the county seat and to move their surplus products to eastern markets. This system will be a part of the Wabash system.

Then again the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad company is moving in the matter of constructing a line of road from the river up the West Fork of Beaver and over through Dungannon, connecting with the C. & P. railroad between Kensington and Bayard. This line is intended to open up the im-

THE BIRTHDAY OF BUCKEYE STATE

Anniversary of the Signing of the First Constitution Occurs November 29.

CHILLICOTHE TO CELEBRATE

Next Spring the Centennial of the First State Inauguration Will Be Observed — Both Events Full of Historic Interest.

Chillicothe, November 12.—(Special)—The recent act of the general assembly in appropriating $10,000 for the purpose, insures the holding of Ohio's centennial celebration in the spring of 1903. The celebration will be held at Chillicothe, the first capital of the state, under the auspices of the State Historical and Archaeological society, in May, this month being decided upon in place of March, when the first state administration was inaugurated, on account of the usual inclemency of the latter month.

Another centennial anniversary is to be celebrated, also at Chillicothe which will be a fitting prelude and preparation for the state celebration. This is the one hundredth anniversary of the signing of the first constitution of Ohio, which took place on Nov. 29 1802. The adoption of this original constitution marked the completion of the labors of the convention, which met at Chillicothe on Nov. 1, 1802, pursuant to an act of congress authorizing it, for the purpose of deciding upon the expediency of statehood for the eastern division of the Northwest territory, including, practically, what is now the state of Ohio. This enabling act of congress was one of the closing scenes in a long and bitter struggle for supremacy between Gen. Arthur St. Clair, territorial governor and the Democratic-Republican followers of Thomas Jefferson, under the leadership of Nathaniel Massie, Thomas Worthington, Edward Tiffin, of Ross county, Jeremiah Morrow, of Warren county, Charles Willing Bryd, William Henry Harrison and Return J. Meigs, of Washington county.

The celebration ordinance of 1787 provided for the creation of a state from any one of the three subdivisions of the Northwest territory, whenever such part should contain 60,000 free inhabitants. Seeing that the eastern subdivision, now Ohio, would be anti-Federalist in politics, St. Clair himself a stronk Federalist, began working against statehood as early as 1798, while the Jeffersonians opposed his every move. So bitter was the struggle and so unpopular was St Clair, that on one occasion, at Chillicothe, the house at which he was staying was stormed by a mob, and he was only saved by the efforts of Thomas Worthington, one of his strongest opponents. Finally the Jeffersonians triumphed, St. Clair was deposed from office, the constitutional convention was held, and Ohio became a state.

It is peculiarly appropriate that the two celebrations referred to should be held at Chillicothe. That town was headquarters for the opponents of St Clair; at it met the territorial assembly; in the old Ross county court house gathered the constitutional convention; and the same building became the first state house of Ohio. Then, too, many of the first state officials were from Chillicothe, a remarkable list of able men.

The celebration of the anniversary of this event which was important not only to Ohio but to the country at large, will be held at Chillicothe, Nov. 29, 1902. At 11 o'clock, in the morning, as part of the exercises, will be the unveiling of a bronze tablet marking the site of the first state house and commemorating the signing of the original constitution.

The event will be full of historical interest. A general invitation is extended to anyone and everyone who is interested in the history of Ohio, the first and greatest state carved from the Northwest territory.

TWO COMPANIES TO BUILD CROSS-COUNTY TROLLEY LINE

Salem, November 11.—A. M. Anderson, of Youngstown, one of the most prominent electric railway men of northern Ohio, was in Salem yesterday on business. Mr. Anderson was at one time general manager of the Mahoning Valley lines, which include the Youngstown-Warren line and the Youngstown-Sharon-New Castle line. While here Mr. Anderson admitted to a friend that he was no longer connected with the Youngstown lines, but was looking about for something good in the street railway business.

Mr. Anderson visited a number of local business men, but as far as can be learned he had nothing to present in the way of a proposition nor did he make a request for anything. His visit appeared to be in the nature of a prospecting trip. He left for Canton and intended to go into Cleveland over the A. B. C. street railway line.

The gentleman is apparently fully posted on the intentions of the people behind the project to build a street railway from Youngstown to East Liverpool, through Salem nd Lisbon, although he did not talk at length on the matter. From his conversation it is believed that the line from Youngstown to Salem, while being connected with it, is not really a part of the Salem-East Liverpool line. The impression he conveyed here is that two companies will build the line between the Ohio and Mahoning valleys.

In this paper yesterday was given the route of the cross-county line from Salem to East Liverpool. J. F. Spence, the surveyor having the matter in charge, in making known the route in this county, fought shy of saying anything about the route between this city and Youngstown. Mr Anderson is quoted as saying that after leaving Youngstown a viaduct across the valley will be built from the foot of Mahoning avenue. Then the route will be through Austintown and Canfield. From the latter town it will run direct to Salem.

Mr. Anderson is of the opinion that the companies having the project in charge will buy or lease the street railway lines in each city where they expect to do business, providing the same can be done on satisfactory terms. If not, he thinks the project will have funds enough behind it to construct competing lines in all places where it sees fit to do so. Cleveland and Youngstown capital is behind the project, it is said.

FINANCES OF THE CITY PRESENT GRAVE PROBLEM

A Bond Issue Strongly Advocated in Council As the Way Out of Existing Difficulties.

CITY SOLICITOR OPPOSES IMMEDIATE ACTION

That the city of East Liverpool is "up against it" financially, was made so plain at the meeting of the city dads last night that to even those entirely conversant with all the details, the situation is positively alarming. The payroll for the month aggregated nearly $8,000, every cent of which had to be borrowed in anticipation of the receipt of the next installment from the county treasurer.

It has been apparent to all who have had to do with the attempt to collect assessments on the improvement of Trentvale street, Calcutta road and Pennsylvania avenue, that it could not be accomplished without unlimited trouble and litigation. Several hundred damage suits are now pending in which property holders on Pennsylvania avenue refuse to permit the city to assess according to benefits in excess of 25 per cent. of the property valuation.

A resolution was presented last night which had been drafted at the instigation of Dr. Marshall. The document is a lengthy one, and in a nutshell, provides for the holding of a special election in this city, the question to be decided by the voters being whether bonds of the city shall be issued for the purpose of obtaining money to pay the excess of the cost of the improving of the highways leading into the city, known as Calcutta street, Trentvale street, and Pennsylvania avenue, over and above the amount assessed or to be assessed upon the lots and lands abutting on

The discussion which followed was interesting and lengthly, very many facts being brought to light which may place the present council in a fair position with the citizens and taxpayers.

Mr. Peach was the first member to take the floor on the subject, and he spoke earnestly in favor of the adoption of the measure. He could see no way in which the city could dodge the issue. While the law provides for the collection of assessments by benefits, he thought there had been many irregularities in the matter of apportioning the assessment on the part of the boards and later by the equalizers. As the bills for the improvement of these thoroughfares had come due the city has been compelled, through its inability to collect the assessments, to borrow the money. Upon these amounts the city was compelled to pay interest at the rate of 7 per cent. Should the voters decide to authorize a bond issue, the rate of interest would not exceed 4 per cent. The city must have the money from one source or the other, and he was in favor of the resolution. Mr. Peach thought there should be no delay in getting the question before the voters.

Every member of the council had something to say, and in a few instances the remarks were quite pointed. Messrs. Nice, Horwell, Bullock, Orr and McConnell added a few words, indicating that, while they appreciated the position in which the city is placed at this time, and were convinced there was no other way round the dilemma, still they desired to have it understood that the present council had nothing whatever to do with placing the city in the position financially that it has now been found. It was recalled that Dr. Marshall had been the individual who argued for, and succeeded finally, in having passed the measure for collecting assessments according to benefits, and the majority of the members thought the responsibility should not be misplaced.

The solicitor argued against the adoption of the resolution at this time, explaining that should the latest plan be adopted it might be difficult to collect anything under the original plan. Considerable money had already been collected on a 25 per cent. basis. It was his opinion that all means at hand should be employed to collect the several amounts under the old plan before taking action upon the Marshall resolution. An adjourned meeting will be held Friday evening, and at that time it is likely some definte action will be taken.

PETITION DISMISSED

Circuit Court Rejects the Plear for Receiver for Dungannon Creamery.

Lisbon, November 12.—(Special.)—The petition filed by a number of the stockholders of the Dungannon Creamery company, asking for a dissolution of the corporation, was dismissed. The company was formed in 1899, and in less than two years a number of the stockholders came into court alleging the object for which it had been organized had not been realized.

It was not shown, however, that the firm was not insolvent, and the court held that the time had been too brief to declare whether the venture had been a success.

AGONIZING DEATH OF LITTLE CHILD

Four-Year Old Girl Falls Into a Boiler Full of Scalding Water.

SUFFERED FOR 24 HOURS

Death Coming to Her Relief This Morning—The Victim the Child of Mr. And Mrs. William Pierce, of the West End, Wellsville.

An accident occurred yesterday morning which resulted this morning in the death of Myrtle Pierce, aged 4 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Pierce, who reside on the Fair grounds at Wellsville.

While the little girl was playing yesterday morning at the kitchen at her home she accidentally backed up and stumbled into a boilerful of scalding water. She screamed for her mother who was standing nearby, and who at once ran to her assistance. After the child was picked up it was found that she had been seriously scalded.

Dr. J. S. Campbell was at once called. He worked for a long while with the burned child and very carefully dressed her burns. Every possible means was used to save the child's life, but death finally resulted at 9 o'clock this morning.

The body will be taken by the grieved parents to Gallipolis on the morning train tomorrow, where funeral services will be held and final interment made

The document is a lengthy one, and in a nutshell, provides for the holding of a special election in this city, the question to be decided by the voters being whether bonds of the city shall be issued for the purpose of obtaining money to pay the excess of the cost of the improving of the highways leading into the city, known as Calcutta street, Trentvale street, and Pennsylvania avenue, over and above the amount assessed or to be assessed upon the lots and lands abutting on

The discussion which followed was interesting and lengthly, very many facts being brought to light which may place the present council in a fair position with the citizens and taxpayers.

Mr. Peach was the first member to take the floor on the subject, and he spoke earnestly in favor of the adoption of the measure. He could see no way in which the city could dodge the issue. While the law provides for the collection of assessments by benefits, he thought there had been many irregularities in the matter of apportioning the assessment on the part of the boards and later by the equalizers. As the bills for the improvement of these thoroughfares had come due the city has been compelled, through its inability to collect the assessments, to borrow the money. Upon these amounts the city was compelled to pay interest at the rate of 7 per cent. Should the voters decide to authorize a bond issue, the rate of interest would not exceed 4 per cent. The city must have the money from one source or the other, and he was in favor of the resolution. Mr. Peach thought there should be no delay in getting the question before the voters.

Every member of the council had something to say, and in a few instances the remarks were quite pointed. Messrs. Nice, Horwell, Bullock, Orr and McConnell added a few words, indicating that, while they appreciated the position in which the city is placed at this time, and were convinced there was no other way round the dilemma, still they desired to have it understood that the present council had nothing whatever to do with placing the city in the position financially that it has now been found. It was recalled that Dr. Marshall had been the individual who argued for, and succeeded finally, in having passed the measure for collecting assessments according to benefits, and the majority of the members thought the responsibility should not be misplaced.

The solicitor argued against the adoption of the resolution at this time, explaining that should the latest plan be adopted it might be difficult to collect anything under the original plan. Considerable money had already been collected on a 25 per cent. basis. It was his opinion that all means at hand should be employed to collect the several amounts under the old plan before taking action upon the Marshall resolution. An adjourned meeting will be held Friday evening, and at that time it is likely some definte action will be taken.

TWO COMPANIES TO BUILD CROSS-COUNTY TROLLEY LINE

Salem, November 11.—A. M. Anderson, of Youngstown, one of the most prominent electric railway men of northern Ohio, was in Salem yesterday on business. Mr. Anderson was at one time general manager of the Mahoning Valley lines, which include the Youngstown-Warren line and the Youngstown-Sharon-New Castle line. While here Mr. Anderson admitted to a friend that he was no longer connected with the Youngstown lines, but was looking about for something good in the street railway business.

Mr. Anderson visited a number of local business men, but as far as can be learned he had nothing to present in the way of a proposition nor did he make a request for anything. His visit appeared to be in the nature of a prospecting trip. He left for Canton and intended to go into Cleveland over the A. B. C. street railway line.

The gentleman is apparently fully posted on the intentions of the people behind the project to build a street railway from Youngstown to East Liverpool, through Salem nd Lisbon, although he did not talk at length on the matter. From his conversation it is believed that the line from Youngstown to Salem, while being connected with it, is not really a part of the Salem-East Liverpool line. The impression he conveyed here is that two companies will build the line between the Ohio and Mahoning valleys.

In this paper yesterday was given the route of the cross-county line from Salem to East Liverpool. J. F. Spence, the surveyor having the matter in charge, in making known the route in this county, fought shy of saying anything about the route between this city and Youngstown. Mr. Anderson is quoted as saying that after leaving Youngstown a viaduct across the valley will be built from the foot of Mahoning avenue. Then the route will be through Austintown and Canfield. From the latter town it will run direct to Salem.

Mr. Anderson is of the opinion that the companies having the project in charge will buy or lease the street railway lines in each city where they expect to do business, providing the same can be done on satisfactory terms. If not, he thinks the project will have funds enough behind it to construct competing lines in all places where it sees fit to do so. Cleveland and Youngstown capital is behind the project, it is said.

PETITION DISMISSED

Circuit Court Rejects the Plear for Receiver for Dungannon Creamery.

Lisbon, November 12.—(Special.)—The petition filed by a number of the stockholders of the Dungannon Creamery company, asking for a dissolution of the corporation, was dismissed. The company was formed in 1899, and in less than two years a number of the stockholders came into court alleging the object for which it had been organized had not been realized.

It was not shown, however, that the firm was not insolvent, and the court held that the time had been too brief to declare whether the venture had been a success.

AGONIZING DEATH OF LITTLE CHILD

Four-Year Old Girl Falls Into a Boiler Full of Scalding Water.

SUFFERED FOR 24 HOURS

Death Coming to Her Relief This Morning—The Victim the Child of Mr. And Mrs. William Pierce, of the West End, Wellsville.

An accident occurred yesterday morning which resulted this morning in the death of Myrtle Pierce, aged 4 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Pierce, who reside on the Fair Grounds at Wellsville.

While the little girl was playing yesterday morning at the kitchen at her home she accidentally backed up and stumbled into a boilerful of scalding water. She screamed for her mother, who was standing nearby, and who at once ran to her assistance. After the child was picked up it was found that she had been seriously scalded.

Dr. J. S. Campbell was at once called. He worked for a long while with the burned child and very carefully dressed her burns. Every possible means was used to save the child's life, but death finally resulted at 9 o'clock this morning.

The body will be taken by the grieved parents to Gallipolis on the morning train tomorrow, where funeral services will be held and final interment made

WITH THE WORKMEN IN THE CLAY PLANTS

MR. CARTWRIGHT AT HOME.

The many friends of William Cartwright of the Cartwright pottery, were pleased to see him on the streets yestr and Monday looking so much improved in health. Mr. Cartwright came down from Pittsburg Saturday evening and remained until today. He spent a few hours in his office at the plant but did not attempt any work. This was his first visit here in three months and during that time he has been the guest of his daughter, Mrs. S. R. Huss, at Pittsburg, while taking treatment from physicians in that city. He is so much improved that his physicians will permit him to visit this city at intervals.

BORDER SETS POPULAR.

The Sevres China company will continue to be busy right into the midst of the holidays. Manager F. R. Cross, of the decorating department, has an enormous stock of orders for decorated sets and specialties staring him in the face and he is filling them as fast as he can get the ware. Their border sets with burnished gold handles have become so popular that he has found it quite impossible to fill the orders for them. He will go to work on some new specialties after the holidays.

DEPLETER WAREHOUSES.

If there is any abatement of the rush of business after the holidays, and it is not at all likely that there will be, the manufacturers will all continue in full operation to stock up on all lines of staples in white ware. When all the big fall orders have been filled there will not be a warehouse in town that is not almost depleted and it is calculated that it will take until the beginning of the spring business to fill them up again. The present indications are that all the plants will be working full after the holiday vacation.

A FAMOUS FAKE

Recalled By the Death of the Man Who Helped Make the Cardiff Giant.

The death in Chicago of John J. Sampson, who admitted having helped to chisel out the "Cardiff Giant," ends the last chapter of the story of the most remarkable humbug that was ever imposed upon the American people.

This swindle was perpetrated in 1869, when it was announced that the petrified remains of a man of gigantic size had been unearthed in the vicinity of the village of Cardiff, N. Y. The men who said they had found the body at once heralded their discovery through the newspapers, and soon began a tour of the country for the purpose of exhibiting the "giant." The people accepted the fossil as genuine, and flocked to see it in large numbers in every city where it was shown. Not only was the public deceived, but antiquaries and paleontologists as well accepted the word of the exhibitors and endeavored in vain to trace the origin of the giant.

At last when a big harvest of dollars had been reaped, the swindlers were compelled to admit that the stone had been taken from a quarry in Iowa, that the "giant" had been cut into shape in Chicago, and that it was subsequently buried near Cardiff, where it was unearthed.

Probably a great many Americans who paid to see the "giant" are still alive, and they will no doubt admit that the joke of the numbug was worth the price they paid for it. Half the regret of being swindled is taken away by the belief that somebody else bit at the same bait, and every person who was humbugged by the "Cardiff Giant" had the satisfaction of knowing that he was in a numerous company.

EAST END

FIREARMS IN DEMAND.

Culbertson Hold-up Causes Citizens to Prepare to Meet Highwaymen.

George Culbertson is improving slowly from the effects of the awful blow given him Monday evening by the highwaymen who held him up near the Horace Mann school building. No serious results are feared by his physician and he will be able to get around again in a few days.

Another incident bearing on the holdup has come to light. Saturday night, as Mr. Culbertson was walking from his home to the street car track, he was followed by two men as far as the intersection of the street with Pennsylvania avenue. Mr. Culbertson was walking at a rapid rate and the men did not overtake him. He heard one of them say:: "The old man is in a ——— of a hurry tonight." He is confident they were the same men who waylaid him on Monday evening.

There were heavy sales of fire arms at the East End hardware stores yesterday and it is likely that the highwaymen will meet with a warm reception if the try it again.

LOST HIS ARM

Curtis Fuller Got a Terrible Wound As a Result of Hunting Accident.

T. H. Fuller, of Pennsylvania avenue, received a letter yesterday afternoon giving further particulars to the accident to his son Curtis, near Nelsonville. The young man was hunting about six miles from that place when the accident occurred. His gun fell from his hand and in trying to catch it the weapon was discharged. The contents entered his right arm just below the elbow, almost severing it.

Two of the fingers of his left hand were badly torn and a few of the shot struck his face. He was taken to the city in a wagon and the physician who was called found it necessary to amputate the arm just below the elbow. The latter stated that he had rallied nicely from the operation and was getting along as well as could be expected under the circumstances.

Hurt By Falling Saggers.

An accident that might have been attended by more serious results occurred yesterday at Laughlin No. 3 pottery, shortly after the noon hour. A number of men were at work in one of the kilns in the glost end when one of the bungs toppled over, the heavy saggers striking the men below. Charles Demerling was badly cut about the face and several others were slightly injured. There is considerable loss in ware.

Lost His Forefinger.

John Nikesson, who runs one of the machines at the brick yard, had the first finger of his right hand severed while at work yesterday afternoon. The injury is a very painful one and will prevent him from working for some time.

Pastor McQuiston Improving.

Rev. D. W. McQuiston, of the Second U. P. church, was somewhat improved today, although still very ill. His malady is of such a nature that it will require his remaining indoors for several days and complete rest. Rev. Mr. McQuiston was taken with a severe cold one day last week while assisting a surveyor at his new residence lot on Pennsylvania avenue, and he was compelled to relinquish the supervision of the grading to Walter C. Supplee.

Arrangements Perfected.

The Odd Fellows' committee, composed of Messrs. James Robinett, Robert Newell and T. M. McKane, met last evening at the home of the latter on Ohio avenue and perfected the arrangements for the banquet they will give Friday evening in Larkins & Ferguson's hall to the members of Line Island and East Liverpool lodges. The program has not been announced, but will consist of a big supper and music and recitations.

Will Pay the Debt.

The members of the session of the Second U. P. church held their regular monthly meeting at the home of Pastor McQuiston, on St. George street. After the routine business had been disposed of the matter of paying the church debt was considered, and although it has not been announced officially it is pretty well understood that the debt will be wiped out before the close of the year.

The Oriental Princes.

There is to be some mysterious doings tonight in the P. H. C. hall. An organization from all the lodges represented in the East End is to be formed and will be known as the Oriental Princes. There are quite a number of candidates for the work this evening and a royal good time is expected. Captain Terrance, it is reported, will have charge of the ceremonies.

Helping a Disabled Comrade.

The employes of Laughlin No. 2 are ever ready to help a comrade in distress and yesterday when a subscription paper for the benefit of Robert Prosser was taken among them they responded most liberally and Mr. Prosser will receive more than $30. He was injured two weeks ago in the street car accident on Pennsylvania avenue.

Danced Until Morning.

The dance last evening at Larkin & Ferguson hall, given by the Buckeye club, was one of the most enjoyable of the season. There were at least fifty couples present and the dancing was kept up until an early hour this morning. There will be another dance this evening.

Another Scarlet Fever Case.

Another new case of scarlet fever is reported today. This time it is at the home of Mrs. Allie McElroy, on Pennsylvania avenue, and the victim is her youngest daughter. The little one is seriously though not dangerously ill. The house has been quarantined.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

F. B. Chambers is a business visitor to Pittsburg today.

Miss Tillie Copeland, of Ohio avenue, is reported among the sick today.

Dr. Hendershot was called to Smith's Ferry yesterday to see Miss Goldie Bolton, who is seriously ill.

Messrs. W. C. and E. A. Smith broke ground this morning for their new residence on Railroad street.

Miss Dollie White, who lives with Mr. and Mrs. D. F. White, of Railroad street, is reported quite ill with tonsilitis.

Irvin Allison of Pennsylvania avenue, employed as a presser at the Wallace & Chetwynd pottery, will move one day this week to his farm near Canon's Mill. He will continue his work at the pottery.

Rev. G. W. Orcutt, of the Erie street M. E. church, returned this morning from Brilliant, where the Steubenville district conference was held yesterday and Monday. Rev. Mr. Orcutt is secretary of the conference.

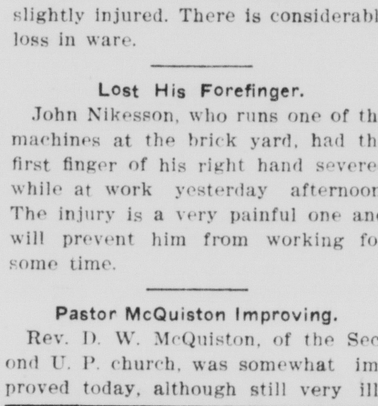

For a Bad Cold.

If you have a bad cold you need a good reliable medicine like Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to loosen and relieve it, and to allay the irritation and inflammation of the throat and lungs. The soothing and healing properties of this remedy and the quick cures which it effects make it a favorite everywhere. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger, Druggist.

There is one rational way to treat nasal catarrh: the medicine is applied direct to the affected membrane. The remedy is Ely's Cream Balm. It restores the inflamed tissues to a healthy state without drying all the life out of them and it gives back the lost senses of taste and smell. The sufferer who is tired of vain experiments should use Cream Balm. Druggists sell it for 50 cents. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren street, New York, will mail it.

MILK IS SCARCE

ALMOST A FAMINE IN THE LACTEAL SUPPLY.

The Dairymen Account For It By the Necessary Change of the Food For the Cows.

East Liverpool and vicinity are now confronted with a scarcity of milk, which, though it is not as serious as other famines, is quite inconvenient to housewives, particularly those having large families, and to hotel and restaurant keepers.

The milk supply began to grow short last week when the cold snap put a practical end to the pasture of cattle. Most of the dairy cows are now housed for the winter, and the result is the annual lessening of the product.

Dairymen report less milk than at the corresponding period for several years. The direct cause of the shortage is the change of food of the cows. They have been feeding on grass all summer and now the majority of them are called off from the field and put into the stable where they get bran, fodder and other winter feed not calculated to produce milk in any considerable quantity.

This shortage, it is predicted, will continue until about Christmas, or until the dairy cows get used to the radical change of foods. As a result of the shortage of milk there will be no famine, but the consumers will not be able to get all they want at any time. There is hardly and liklihood of an advance in the price of milk as the prices for the year are always varied on the regular showing of a shortage.

MRS. IDA McDONALD,
Supreme Deputy of the Maccabees of the World.

Mrs. Ida McDonald.

MRS. McDONALD, No. 477 Beaubien Street, Detroit, Mich., is a prominent woman who was greatly benefited by the great woman's medicine, Wine of Cardui. Mrs. McDonald is the supreme deputy of the Maccabees of the World, and one of the most widely known women in the United States. Thousands of women gather to hear her lecture everywhere she goes. The great work she has done for the Maccabees is appreciated by every member of the order. She was so absorbed in her work that she neglected to give her health proper care—failed to take warning that the symptoms of approaching kidney trouble gave her, the sallow complexion and torpid liver. But Wine of Cardui cured her the same as it has cured thousands of others and Mrs. McDonald has written this letter in order that other suffering women may secure from Wine of Cardui the same relief she got from it.

"For four years I suffered with torpid liver until my skin looked yellow and dull. I then found my kidneys were affected and had severe pains across my back, and I felt that I must do something to regain my health. A friend advocated your Wine of Cardui treatment so strongly that I decided to try it, although I had little faith in patent medicines. I am now very thankful that I did so, for within ten days blessed relief came to me, and in less than three months I was cured, and have enjoyed fine health ever since. I know there is nothing better for a sick woman who wishes to enjoy perfect health and am very pleased to give my hearty endorsement."

No suffering woman can afford to ignore such a letter as Mrs. McDonald writes. Her plans and advice have proved valuable in building up one of the greatest women's organizations in the United States and she takes time to give advice which she knows will help you.

Do not delay in securing this medicine. There is nothing to gain and everything to lose by delay. The choice is before you. Will or will you not secure relief now by taking Wine of Cardui? All druggists sell $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui as well as 25c packages of Thedford's Black-Draught.

WINE of CARDUI A million suffering women have found relief in Wine of Cardui.

FIREARMS IN DEMAND.

Culbertson Hold-up Causes Citizens to Prepare to Meet Highwaymen.

George Culbertson is improving slowly from the effects of the awful blow given him Monday evening by the highwaymen who held him up near the Horace Mann school building. No serious results are feared by his physician and he will be able to get around again in a few days.

Another incident bearing on the holdup has come to light. Saturday night, as Mr. Culbertson was walking from his home to the street car track, he was followed by two men as far as the intersection of the street with Pennsylvania avenue. Mr. Culbertson was walking at a rapid rate and the men did not overtake him. He heard one of them say:: "The old man is in a ——— of a hurry tonight." He is confident they were the same men who waylaid him on Monday evening.

There were heavy sales of fire arms at the East End hardware stores yesterday and it is likely that the highwaymen will meet with a warm reception if the try it again.

LOST HIS ARM

Curtis Fuller Got a Terrible Wound As a Result of Hunting Accident.

T. H. Fuller, of Pennsylvania avenue, received a letter yesterday afternoon giving further particulars to the accident to his son Curtis, near Nelsonville. The young man was hunting about six miles from that place when the accident occurred. His gun fell from his hand and in trying to catch it the weapon was discharged. The contents entered his right arm just below the elbow, almost severing it.

Two of the fingers of his left hand were badly torn and a few of the shot struck his face. He was taken to the city in a wagon and the physician who was called found it necessary to amputate the arm just below the elbow. The latter stated that he had rallied nicely from the operation and was getting along as well as could be expected under the circumstances.

Hurt By Falling Saggers.

An accident that might have been attended by more serious results occurred yesterday at Laughlin No. 3 pottery, shortly after the noon hour. A number of men were at work in one of the kilns in the glost end when one of the bungs toppled over, the heavy saggers striking the men below. Charles Demerling was badly cut about the face and several others were slightly injured. There is considerable loss in ware.

MRS. McDONALD, No. 477 Beaubien Street, Detroit, Mich., is a prominent woman who was greatly benefited by the great woman's medicine, Wine of Cardui. Mrs. McDonald is the supreme deputy of the Maccabees of the World, and one of the most widely known women in the United States. Thousands of women gather to hear her lecture everywhere she goes. The great work she has done for the Maccabees is appreciated by every member of the order. She was so absorbed in her work that she neglected to give her health proper care—failed to take warning that the symptoms of approaching kidney trouble gave her, the sallow complexion and torpid liver. But Wine of Cardui cured her the same as it has cured thousands of others and Mrs. McDonald has written this letter in order that other suffering women may secure from Wine of Cardui the same relief she got from it.

"For four years I suffered with torpid liver until my skin looked yellow and dull. I then found my kidneys were affected and had severe pains across my back, and I felt that I must do something to regain my health. A friend advocated your Wine of Cardui treatment so strongly that I decided to try it, although I had little faith in patent medicines. I am now very thankful that I did so, for within ten days blessed relief came to me, and in less than three months I was cured, and have enjoyed fine health ever since. I know there is nothing better for a sick woman who wishes to enjoy perfect health and am very pleased to give my hearty endorsement."

No suffering woman can afford to ignore such a letter as Mrs. McDonald writes. Her plans and advice have proved valuable in building up one of the greatest women's organizations in the United States and she takes time to give advice which she knows will help you.

Do not delay in securing this medicine. There is nothing to gain and everything to lose by delay. The choice is before you. Will or will you not secure relief now by taking Wine of Cardui? All druggists sell $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui as well as 25c packages of Thedford's Black-Draught.

WINE of CARDUI
A million suffering women have found relief in Wine of Cardui.

The fact that the agitation for a nine-foot stage of water in the Ohio from Pittsburg to Cairo was begun in a period of general prosperity, when the government treasury is plethoric with funds is a strong augury of its success. Another even stronger and more favorable phase is that nobody in the whole Ohio valley opposes the proposed improvement, but that all of its millions of inhabitants are heartily in favor of it. Moreover, the congressmen and senators from the districts and states most interested are all in earnest accord with the merchants, manufacturers and citizens generally who believe that it would be the best policy of the government, as it would certainly be best for the people, to carry out the improvements already inaugurated at once, instead of prolonging them for years. The arguments are all on the side of the river champions, and they should prevail. The undertaking is a great one, but America is accustomed to performing great works and performing them quickly and well. Moreover, the task is a small one in comparison with that of building the canal across the isthmus. It is closely allied to that project and will, when completed, add untold millions to the tonnage which will pass through the ship canal for the Pacific coast and the other side of the world. The Parkersburg convention is doing its work enthusiastically and it should mark an epoch in the history of our already marvelous industrial and commercial development.

The plans of the recently re-organized Pittsburg, Lisbon & Western railway and of the electric traction company which proposes to build a line from Youngstown through this county to this city, to say nothing of other railroad projects which are scarcely less ambitious though less completely matured at present, are such as should give the people of this city and county great hope and encouragement. There is not likely to be any disposition on the part of the people to throw obstacles in the way of the promoters, who this time, are backed by the capital and business enterprise essential to the success of these important undertakings. Columbiana county has waited long and patiently for railroad facilities commensurate with her greatness. When it shall become evident that the period of waiting is nearing an end, the fact will be a cause for congratulation and rejoicing.

Ohio hunters so far report meagre success in shooting game. When the returns are all in it will probably be found that they have had about the average success in shooting themselves and others.

It is said that W. R. Hearst, congressman-elect, wants to be president. The success that other Democratic editors have had in politics is certainly not sufficient to encourage him much.

May Yohe and Strong have gone to France. It is hoped their welcome will be so cordial there that they will not return to America.

Molineux has been acquitted and set free after serving four years in prison and being once sentenced to death. The law's delay has worked grievous wrong in his case if the final verdict is the correct one.

Ohio has had the speakership of the house but two years in the past 100 years. If the proper effort is made her turn may come again in 1903.

"From Pittsburg to Panama" is a far cry, but give the manufacturers a navigable river to the gulf and the goods will get there.

There is no revolution in sight in Venezuela for a wonder, and there is rejoicing except among the people whose trade is war.

Summer has evidently reconsidered her determination to stay away until May and is back for another visit.

IMPORTANT DECISION BY CIRCUIT COURT

CONTROVERSY OVER SALEM TAX CASE PASSED UPON.

Plaintiff's Contention Not Sustained And Petition For Injunction Dismissed.

Lisbon, November 12.—(Special)—The judges commenced to hand down their decisions in circuit court this morning.

Judge John M. Cook gave out the first decision, in which was dismissed the petition of Henry C. Jones against the city of Salem and the auditor and treasurer of Columbiana county, to restrain the collection of taxes which the plaintiff held were unjustly assessed.

The case is of interest, not so much for the amount involved, being a little over $38, but for the precedent established. Mr. Jones owns lot 71, in Waterworth's addition to Salem, with 56 feet on East High street and 12 feet on lot 72, adjoining, making a total frontage on High street of 68 feet. Lot 74 is a corner lot running lengthwise 140 feet on North Lundy street. He had improved his premises from time to time, the two tracts being thrown together, and when North Lunday street was paved with brick several years ago, he was assessed for the corner and the 12 feet of 72 which had been treated as a part of it.

The plaintiff held he could only be taxed on a single lot valuation, but the court held the city could not be expected to recognize a line which he himself had ignored. The decision sustains that of Judge P. M. Smith, given here in common pleas court a few years ago.

Distress After Eating

Nausea between meals, belching, vomiting, flatulence, fits of nervous headache, pain in the stomach, are all symptoms of dyspepsia, and the longer it is neglected the harder it is to cure it.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Radically and permanently cure it—strengthen and tone the stomach and other digestive organs for the natural performance of their functions.

Accept no substitute for Hood's.

"I had dyspepsia twenty-five years and took different medicines but got no help until I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. Have taken four bottles of this medicine and can now eat almost anything, sleep well, have no cramps in my stomach, no burning and no distress." MRS. WILLIAM G. BARRETT, 14 Olney St., Providence, R. I.

Hood's Sarsaparilla promises to cure and keeps the promise.

BRICK FOR PAVING

Four Cars Received by Contractor Freshwater And Work Will Be Pushed.

Contractor Freshwater has been handicapped the past few days by not getting brick fast enough for paving, but last night one car was received and three cars came today, which will keep them going again. The contractors have about 3,000 feet of curbing ahead now and will rush the work as fast as possible.

Chester people are very anxious to have one side of the street car line at least finished before bad weather sets in. The streets, in their present condition, would be impassable to travel should it become wet and freezing weather.

mense coal field at West Point and all along that valley. Such a road would add great wealth and business to that part of the country.

Again there are numerous projects on foot to build electric lines across the county, taking in Lisbon. We have inside information of one very feasible route which will be constructed next year if proper encouragement is given. This route starts at Youngstown for the present and runs to Columbiana, thence to Lisbon by way of Leetonia, and after Lisbon is reached two or three lines are in contemplation to the river. One is down the Beaver to the river, another is out Hepner Hollow and on to East Liverpool, and a third is down the Beaver to the mouth of Long's Run and then up that stream and on to East Liverpool. We believe this line will be built inside the next year. It is already financed and if a good grade can be obtained on a right of way at fair cost, the road is a go. The line will not be a cheap one for passenger traffic only, but the roadbed and rails will be of such a character as to be suitable for heavy electric engines and heavy freight. It is the purpose of the management not to stop at the river but to push on to Pittsburg. Such a line through our county would be of untold benefit.

Columbus, November 12—(Special.)—It has been reported here that the Pittsburg, Lisbon & Western company will build an extension from Lisbon, due west to Minerva, where connection will be made with a branch of the Wabash. The extension may go through or near Hanoverton.

the president to recommend the improvement to congress. Governor White will recommend a resolution favoring it to the legislature of West Virginia.

The committee on resolutions, of which W. E. Wells, of East Liverpool, is a member, last night agreed upon resolutions to be presented to the association today, requesting congress to change the plans for damming the Ohio river so as to secure a nine-foot stage of water the year round; to make sufficient appropriation to complete the work from Pittsburg to Cairo in eight years; to follow this work with the damming of the tributaries as soon as possible, and to keep the river free from obstruction.

HON. R. W. TAYLER

WARMLY APPLAUDED AS HE SPOKE OF RIVER NEEDS.

The Country Calling for More Transportation Facilities And Should Have Them.

Parkersburg, W. Va., November 11.—(Special.)—Congressman R. W. Tayler, of Lisbon, who is with the East Liverpool delegation, said when introduced yesterday that he had much trouble in getting dam No. 8 located on the Ohio river, but finally accomplished his purpose. He interspersed his remarks with witty sayings and was sorry that he was about to leave congress. It was always a happy moment to him, he said, when he could work for river improvements. Railroads, he went on to say, are incapable of handling the freight offered, and the Ohio river with an improved system of locks and dams will assist in relieving this congestion.

Manufacturers at East Liverpool, he said, cannot get sufficient cars to ship goods. He believed this a happy moment, because the country is calling for more transportation, and if the river is improved it will do much to strengthen industries and give the Ohio valley a firm hold on the markets of the world. He was warmly applauded.

WHITE'S WELCOME

A MASTERLY SPEECH ON THE CONVENTION'S OBJECTS.

Not a Selfish Scheme, But a Common Cause—Work Can Be Accomplished.

Parkersburg, W. Va., November 11.—(Special.)—Governor A. B. White, of West Virginia, yesterday delivered a masterly address in welcoming the convention to the state. He began by saying that he was glad to welcome the Pennsylvania delegation because her vast industries and resources makes her the leader among her sister states. He said that a decade would probably change events in favor of West Virginia and then Pennsylvania would be sorry. Continuing he said:

"I would welcome the delegates from the state of Ohio, whose chief product for years has been great men; for which state some of us began to feel sorry years ago and left her for other more kindly, not to say appreciative, states, like West Virginia.

"We West Virginians and our neighbors of Kentucky claim the river as our own, but generously permit citizens of the river towns to drink it while we accord to the national government the right to improve it. We long since passed Ohio as a lumber, oil, coke and coal producing state, and yet we are proud of Ohio and its people.

"We welcome the delegates from Indiana. For three years it was my privilege to be managing editor of the oldest morning paper in Hoosierdom and I was very proud of the state and its resources. Then I began to feel sorry for her and struck out for the Eldorado of West Virginia. We are appropriating Indiana's glass fortunes, leading her in the production of coal, lumber, gas and oil, and yet we yield supremacy to her in corn and dialect, poetry, in hogs and literature.

"I would welcome the delegates from Illinois, the state that early leads us in the amount of productions of coal and which in the race we are resolved to pass in the next two years. And yet we yield to her the corn and the subtle fluid made therefrom. I would welcome the delegates from old Kentucky. Proud are we of her and her famous products. But we must again impress upon her the painful fact that West Virginia again excels her in area and extent of blue grass.

"Seriously speaking, what an enormous population is to be served and what tremendous developments is to be secured by the improvement of the Ohio river, until its thousands of miles of navigable waters have a minimum channel depth of nine feet the year around. We cannot overestimate if indeed we can forsee all the results which would follow from such an improvement.

"It is trans-continental and around the world in its effects. It means that the 12,000,000 to 15,000,000 people of the Ohio valley states in a generation thereafter will number 30,000,000; that its manufactural and agricultural products, as well as its marvelous mineral products will have water transportation and cheap freights to the gulf, to Europe, to South America, and by the isthmian canal to the Pacific states and to the opening markets of the Orient. It means a revival of those days of 1790 to 1810 when at Marietta and other points on the Ohio the ship carpenter built two or three masted schooners, loaded them with products of the virgin soil and sailed them down the Ohio and Mississippi rivers and thence across the Atlantic.

"It is not a purely local or selfish scheme we meet here to advocate, but one which is truly national in scope and effect. We come as a powerful galaxy to urge a measure which means growth in trade and prosperity not only for ourselves, but for the nation. It is not an unreasonable scheme which we advocate. It is a great work, for a great nation and not to be undertaken piecemeal or dragged out for a quarter of a century. It is a work of today and for today.

"Now is the time for action. The river should be improved with locks and dams from Pittsburg to Cairo. It can be accomplished. Our needs should not be buried in a general river and harbor bill. It is big enough and important enough to stand as a special and distinct measure. We welcome the delegates as workers in a common cause and our heart and sympathies go out to you. We bid you Godspeed."

CHANGE OF LIFE.

Some sensible advice to women passing through this trying period.

The painful and annoying symptoms experienced by most women at this period of life are easily overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is especially designed to meet the needs of woman's system at the trying time of change of life.

It is no exaggeration to state that Mrs. Pinkham has over 5000 letters like the following proving the great value of her medicine at such times.

"I wish to thank Mrs. Pinkham for what her medicine has done for me. My trouble was change of life. Four years ago my health began to fail, my head began to grow dizzy, my eyes pained me, and at times it seemed as if my back would fail me, had terrible pains across the kidneys. Hot flashes were very frequent and trying. A friend advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have taken six bottles of it and am to-day free from those troubles. I cannot speak in high enough terms of the medicine. I recommend it to all and wish every suffering woman would give it a trial."—BELLA ROSS, 88 Montclair Ave., Roslindale, Mass.—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

Philadelphia Fire.

Philadelphia, Nov. 12.—The two upper floors of the six-story building at 713 and 715 Spring Garden street, occupied by the Philadelphia Baby Carriage company, were destroyed last night by fire. The lower floors were badly damaged by water. The members of the firm, F. Bloch and H. Levi, estimate their loss between $50,000 and $75,000, on which there is a full insurance. The building is owned by Isaac M. Miller. The damage to the structure is estimated at about $10,000.

Stepped Against a Hot Stove.

A child of Mrs. Geo. T. Benson, when getting his usual Saturday night bath, stepped back against a hot stove which burned him severely. The child was in great agony and his mother could do nothing to pacify him. Remembering that she had a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm in the house, she thought she would try it. In less than half an hour after applying it the child was quiet and asleep, and in less than two weeks was well. Mrs. Benson is a well known resident of Kellar, Va. Pain Balm is an antiseptic liniment, and especially valuable for burns, cuts, bruises and sprains. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger, Druggist.

the president to recommend the improvement to congress. Governor White will recommend a resolution favoring it to the legislature of West Virginia.

The committee on resolutions, of which W. E. Wells, of East Liverpool, is a member, last night agreed upon resolutions to be presented to the association today, requesting congress to change the plans for damming the Ohio river so as to secure a nine-foot stage of water the year round; to make sufficient appropriation to complete the work from Pittsburg to Cairo in eight years; to follow this work with the damming of the tributaries as soon as possible, and to keep the river free from obstruction.

HON. R. W. TAYLER

WARMLY APPLAUDED AS HE SPOKE OF RIVER NEEDS.

The Country Calling for More Transportation Facilities And Should Have Them.

Parkersburg, W. Va., November 11.—(Special.)—Congressman R. W. Tayler, of Lisbon, who is with the East Liverpool delegation, said when introduced yesterday that he had much trouble in getting dam No. 8 located on the Ohio river, but finally accomplished his purpose. He interspersed his remarks with witty sayings and was sorry that he was about to leave congress. It was always a happy moment to him, he said, when he could work for river improvements. Railroads, he went on to say, are incapable of handling the freight offered, and the Ohio river with an improved system of locks and dams will assist in relieving this congestion.

Manufacturers at East Liverpool, he said, cannot get sufficient cars to ship goods. He believed this a happy moment, because the country is calling for more transportation, and if the river is improved it will do much to strengthen industries and give the Ohio valley a firm hold on the markets of the world. He was warmly applauded.

WHITE'S WELCOME

A MASTERLY SPEECH ON THE CONVENTION'S OBJECTS.

Not a Selfish Scheme, But a Common Cause—Work Can Be Accomplished.

Parkersburg, W. Va., November 11.—(Special.)—Governor A. B. White, of West Virginia, yesterday delivered a masterly address in welcoming the convention to the state. He began by saying that he was glad to welcome the Pennsylvania delegation because her vast industries and resources makes her the leader among her sister states. He said that a decade would probably change events in favor of West Virginia and then Pennsylvania would be sorry. Continuing he said:

"I would welcome the delegates from the state of Ohio, whose chief product for years has been great men; for which state some of us began to feel sorry years ago and left her for other more kindly, not to say appreciative, states, like West Virginia.

"We West Virginians and our neighbors of Kentucky claim the river as our own, but generously permit citizens of the river towns to drink it while we accord to the national government the right to improve it. We long since passed Ohio as a lumber, oil, coke and coal producing state, and yet we are proud of Ohio and its people.

"We welcome the delegates from Indiana. For three years it was my privilege to be managing editor of the oldest morning paper in Hoosierdom and I was very proud of the state and its resources. Then I began to feel sorry for her and struck out for the Eldorado of West Virginia. We are appropriating Indiana's glass fortunes, leading her in the production of coal, lumber, gas and oil, and yet we yield supremacy to her in corn and dialect, poetry, in hogs and literature.

"I would welcome the delegates from Illinois, the state that early leads us in the amount of productions of coal and which in the race we are resolved to pass in the next two years. And yet we yield to her the corn and the subtle fluid made therefrom. I would welcome the delegates from old Kentucky. Proud are we of her and her famous products. But we must again impress upon her the painful fact that West Virginia again excels her in area and extent of blue grass.

"Seriously speaking, what an enormous population is to be served and what tremendous developments is to be secured by the improvement of the Ohio river, until its thousands of miles of navigable waters have a minimum channel depth of nine feet the year around. We cannot overestimate if indeed we can forsee all the results which would follow from such an improvement.

"It is trans-continental and around the world in its effects. It means that the 12,000,000 to 15,000,000 people of the Ohio valley states in a generation thereafter will number 30,000,000; that its manufactural and agricultural products, as well as its marvelous mineral products will have water transportation and cheap freights to the gulf, to Europe, to South America, and by the isthmian canal to the Pacific states and to the opening markets of the Orient. It means a revival of those days of 1790 to 1810 when at Marietta and other points on the Ohio the ship carpenter built two or three masted schooners, loaded them with products of the virgin soil and sailed them down the Ohio and Mississippi rivers and thence across the Atlantic.

"It is not a purely local or selfish scheme we meet here to advocate, but one which is truly national in scope and effect. We come as a powerful galaxy to urge a measure which means growth in trade and prosperity not only for ourselves, but for the nation. It is not an unreasonable scheme which we advocate. It is a great work, for a great nation and not to be undertaken piecemeal or dragged out for a quarter of a century. It is a work of today and for today.

"Now is the time for action. The river should be improved with locks and dams from Pittsburg to Cairo. It can be accomplished. Our needs should not be buried in a general river and harbor bill. It is big enough and important enough to stand as a special and distinct measure. We welcome the delegates as workers in a common cause and our heart and sympathies go out to you. We bid you Godspeed."

Some sensible advice to women passing through this trying period.

The painful and annoying symptoms experienced by most women at this period of life are easily overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is especially designed to meet the needs of woman's system at the trying time of change of life.

It is no exaggeration to state that Mrs. Pinkham has over 5000 letters like the following proving the great value of her medicine at such times.

"I wish to thank Mrs. Pinkham for what her medicine has done for me. My trouble was change of life. Four years ago my health began to fail, my head began to grow dizzy, my eyes pained me, and at times it seemed as if my back would fail me, had terrible pains across the kidneys. Hot flashes were very frequent and trying. A friend advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have taken six bottles of it and am to-day free from those troubles. I cannot speak in high enough terms of the medicine. I recommend it to all and wish every suffering woman would give it a trial."—BELLA ROSS, 88 Montclair Ave., Roslindale, Mass.—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

Philadelphia Fire.

Philadelphia, Nov. 12.—The two upper floors of the six-story building at 713 and 715 Spring Garden street, occupied by the Philadelphia Baby Carriage company, were destroyed last night by fire. The lower floors were badly damaged by water. The members of the firm, F. Bloch and H. Levi, estimate their loss between $50,000 and $75,000, on which there is a full insurance. The building is owned by Isaac M. Miller. The damage to the structure is estimated at about $10,000.

Stepped Against a Hot Stove.

A child of Mrs. Geo. T. Benson, when getting his usual Saturday night bath, stepped back against a hot stove which burned him severely. The child was in great agony and his mother could do nothing to pacify him. Remembering that she had a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm in the house, she thought she would try it. In less than half an hour after applying it the child was quiet and asleep, and in less than two weeks was well. Mrs. Benson is a well known resident of Kellar, Va. Pain Balm is an antiseptic liniment, and especially valuable for burns, cuts, bruises and sprains. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger, Druggist.

A COMPROMISE HAS BEEN DRAFTED

Substitute For Builders' Indemnity Ordinance Submitted to Council.

MANY CHANCES ARE MADE

Penalty for Violation Fixed at $100. New Code Considered—Committees Named to Redistrict the City, Arrange Boards And Fix Salaries.

A compromise for the builders' indemnity ordinance, which was thought might not hold under the laws, was submitted for the consideration of council last night. The framer of the previous ordinance was reluctant to give up the measure, but stated if the members thought best to do so in order to avoid trouble, he would make no objection.

The new ordinance provides that any person making an excavation or allowing building material to remain in the streets shall place not less than two red lghts in a conspicuous place. An additional light must be placed for every 50 feet of additional space occupied. A barrier or fence must also be placed about every such excavation or obstruction.

When a building is in course of erection or repairs and it has reached the top of the first story, those in charge must erect and maintain while the work is in progress an overhead covering from the property line to the curb, for the protection of passersby. After the first story has been passed, the sidewalk shall be kept clear and unobstructed for the use of the pedestrians.

The street commissioner is required to report all cases of excavations made or material or obstructions, placed upon any public way or street of the city by authority of the city, and also to report to council all cases of bridges or precipitous places upon the sides of any public street or way needing railing or barriers for the protection of persons or property from danger therefrom.

The penalty for a violation of this ordinance or interfering with its enforcement is fixed at not less than $100.

The street committee reported having ordered the construction of a sewer on Mulberry alley to carry the water away from the Sevres China company's plant.

The plat of the East Liverpool Land company's second addition was accepted, and the engineer was ordered to prepare plans and specifications for the paving and improving of 200 feet of the Broadway wharf.

A storm water sewer was authorized to be constructed on Bradshaw evenue from Riley avenue to Avondale street, a distance of 407 feet. The work cannot be started this year.

A proposition for the payment of about $304, which had been contracted in the improving of Springdale street, went over to the adjourned meeting.

President Nice announced it was time for the council to take up the questions included in the new code bill which the law said must be definitely decided upon between November 15 and January 1. The redistricting of the city was thought to be the most important, and a committee of five was appointed to take up the work. The committee includes the president. The others are Members Orr, Peach, Bullock and Thomas.

It will be the duty of this committee to change the boundary lines of the present wards so there will be but four wards within the city limits where now there are five. The committee's recommendations in the matter will be made to council later.

The committee appointed to determine upon the size of salaries and some of the duties of the members of the department of public service is as follows: Messrs. Peach, McConnell and Johnston. This is one of the most important in the entire list, and the committee, if it performs its duties well, will have a vast amount of work upon its hands.

The department of public safety will be looked after by Messrs. Marshall, Horwell and Barlow.

The solicitor was instructed to carry the damage case of Nancy K. Bettridge against the city to the higher court, the court of common pleas having decided against the city.

The engineer was ordered to proceed at once with the laying of sidewalks on Chestnut, Pleasant and Calcutta streets, and the street commissioner received instructions to do some grading on Edgewood avenue.

Mr. Barlow reported on a special committee appointed at the last meeting to investigate the damage claim of Thomas Chadwick, of Grant street and Lincoln avenue. He recommended the construction of a stone wall. The Chadwick property, he said, was in bad shape, and he thought the city ought to stand the expense. The engineer was instructed to prepare an estimate of the cost of building the stone wall. He will also fix grade lines on May street on the north side.

Two ordinances for the improving of Summit lane and Persimmon alley were passed under suspension of the rules, and the clerk will advertise for bids without delay.

Contractor John M. Ryan and Mr. Freshwater were the only bidders on the work of improving Robinson street, and Mr. Ryan's bid being the lowest it was accepted.

Choates & McGrew was the only bidder on the Prospect street improvement. The figure was about three times as high as it has been customary to pay and it was rejected.

The council adjourned to meet in adjourned session Friday evening of this week.

WANTED TO GET LAW

Neil Laird And Wife Prefer Charges Against Their Neighbors.

Backyard wrangles with a coal house and hydrant as the primary cause were given an airing in 'Squire McLane's court last evening, but Neil Laird and his wife underwent no radical change in their affections toward Michael Reynolds and his wife.

The former couple were certainly worked up to the point of resorting to any method just so it resulted in redress for alleged wrong done them by Reynolds and his spouse when they appeared first at the city hall with their long tale of having been the victims of threatening and abusive language.

From the story imparted by them to the police they were in no wise to blame for the uprising at their home on College street. Mrs. Laird did the most talking while in the mayor's office, and in her characteristic Irish way she held up the alleged shortcomings of the alleged guilty parties. Reynolds lives at the rear of their home on Sugar street. Both families secure water and coal from the same coal house and hydrant, and it seems that a child of Mrs. Laird was said to have been insulted by Mrs. Reynolds early last evening and that Mrs. Laird not only objected to the treatment of her child, but became very angry and wanted revenge.

Her story concluded the officers advised her to seek a justice's court, as the mayor was absent and she with her husband went to the court of 'Squire McLane. There they told the same story, but he would not take the case.

FOR THREE DEATHS

Conductor And Railway Company Are Held Responsible by Jefferson County Coroner.

Steubenville, November 11.—After four months of thorough research and investigation, Coroner Campbell has concluded the inquests over the bodies of W. F. McElroy, Harry Wiggins and Chester Walker, the three railroad men killed in a wreck on the C. & P. at Mingo on the morning of June 23.

Every bit of evidence that could possibly be secured was taken by the coroner, as was also all the dispatches that passed over the C. & P. wires the 12 hours the wrecked train was overdue, and summing it all up the coroner, while believing that Conductor Earl Frazier, of this city, had misconstrued his orders, and was under the impression that a train dispatched "annulled on the 22d" would not be run to Mingo on that day, the 21st, he was no more at fault than the railroad company, which he severely criticises for not having a better system of keeping the employes informed of the exact arrival and departure of trains.

To secure this information Coroner Campbell suggests that the company send orders repeatedly to stations where considerable switching is done, so that yard crews may know when a train is to arrive, instead of permitting the crew to be on the anxious seat for 12 hours as was Conductor Frazier's crew, which finally started for Steubenville when the southbound freight was many hours overdue. The verdict though, holds Conductor Frazier responsible for taking the main track, but it does not state that he was guilty of criminal negligence, it being due to a misunderstanding of orders.

A storm water sewer was authorized to be constructed on Bradshaw avenue from Riley avenue to Avondale street, a distance of 407 feet. The work cannot be started this year.

A proposition for the payment of about $304, which had been contracted in the improving of Springdale street, went over to the adjourned meeting.

President Nice announced it was time for the council to take up the questions included in the new code bill which the law said must be definitely decided upon between November 15 and January 1. The redistricting of the city was thought to be the most important, and a committee of five was appointed to take up the work. The committee includes the president. The others are Members Orr, Peach, Bullock and Thomas.

It will be the duty of this committee to change the boundary lines of the present wards so there will be but four wards within the city limits where now there are five. The committee's recommendations in the matter will be made to council later.

The committee appointed to determine upon the size of salaries and some of the duties of the members of the department of public service is as follows: Messrs. Peach, McConnell and Johnston. This is one of the most important in the entire list, and the committee, if it performs its duties well, will have a vast amount of work upon its hands.

The department of public safety will be looked after by Messrs. Marshall, Horwell and Barlow.

The solicitor was instructed to carry the damage case of Nancy K. Bettridge against the city to the higher court, the court of common pleas having decided against the city.

The engineer was ordered to proceed at once with the laying of sidewalks on Chestnut, Pleasant and Calcutta streets, and the street commissioner received instructions to do some grading on Edgewood avenue.

Mr. Barlow reported on a special committee appointed at the last meeting to investigate the damage claim of Thomas Chadwick, of Grant street and Lincoln avenue. He recommended the construction of a stone wall. The Chadwick property, he said, was in bad shape, and he thought the city ought to stand the expense. The engineer was instructed to prepare an estimate of the cost of building the stone wall. He will also fix grade lines on May street on the north side.

Two ordinances for the improving of Summit lane and Persimmon alley were passed under suspension of the rules, and the clerk will advertise for bids without delay.

Contractor John M. Ryan and Mr. Freshwater were the only bidders on the work of improving Robinson street, and Mr. Ryan's bid being the lowest it was accepted.

Choates & McGrew was the only bidder on the Prospect street improvement. The figure was about three times as high as it has been customary to pay and it was rejected.

The council adjourned to meet in adjourned session Friday evening of this week.

WANTED TO GET LAW

Neil Laird And Wife Prefer Charges Against Their Neighbors.

Backyard wrangles with a coal house and hydrant as the primary cause were given an airing in 'Squire McLane's court last evening, but Neil Laird and his wife underwent no radical change in their affections toward Michael Reynolds and his wife.

The former couple were certainly worked up to the point of resorting to any method just so it resulted in redress for alleged wrong done them by Reynolds and his spouse when they appeared first at the city hall with their long tale of having been the victims of threatening and abusive language.

From the story imparted by them to the police they were in no wise to blame for the uprising at their home on College street. Mrs. Laird did the most talking while in the mayor's office, and in her characteristic Irish way she held up the alleged shortcomings of the alleged guilty parties. Reynolds lives at the rear of their home on Sugar street. Both families secure water and coal from the same coal house and hydrant, and it seems that a child of Mrs. Laird was said to have been insulted by Mrs. Reynolds early last evening and that Mrs. Laird not only objected to the treatment of her child, but became very angry and wanted revenge.

Her story concluded the officers advised her to seek a justice's court, as the mayor was absent and she with her husband went to the court of 'Squire McLane. There they told the same story, but he would not take the case.

Conductor And Railway Company Are Held Responsible by Jefferson County Coroner.

Steubenville, November 11.—After four months of thorough research and investigation, Coroner Campbell has concluded the inquests over the bodies of W. F. McElroy, Harry Wiggins and Chester Walker, the three railroad men killed in a wreck on the C. & P. at Mingo on the morning of June 23.

Every bit of evidence that could possibly be secured was taken by the coroner, as was also all the dispatches that passed over the C. & P. wires the 12 hours the wrecked train was overdue, and summing it all up the coroner, while believing that Conductor Earl Frazier, of this city, had misconstrued his orders, and was under the impression that a train dispatched "annulled on the 22d" would not be run to Mingo on that day, the 21st, he was no more at fault than the railroad company, which he severely criticises for not having a better system of keeping the employes informed of the exact arrival and departure of trains.

To secure this information Coroner Campbell suggests that the company send orders repeatedly to stations where considerable switching is done, so that yard crews may know when a train is to arrive, instead of permitting the crew to be on the anxious seat for 12 hours as was Conductor Frazier's crew, which finally started for Steubenville when the southbound freight was many hours overdue. The verdict though, holds Conductor Frazier responsible for taking the main track, but it does not state that he was guilty of criminal negligence, it being due to a misunderstanding of orders.

The Points of Difference in the Scale Over Which Views Still Diffeffr.

An interesting meeting was held last evening by the association made up of the employing barbers of the city. The business transacted was mainly of a private character and could not be given out.

Some time was spent in a further discussion of the several demands made by the journeymen in a new scale recently presented. William Earp recently returned from a visit to England and was interviewed by a reporter from another local newspaper. He states that he was so badly misquoted that he has been ridiculed and censured by his friends. He claims he did not tell the reporter that the English ware was not in demand, merely mentioning the fact that there was little trade for the ware made for American markets. Their home trade, he says, is in good condition. He did not state that the workmen were gloomy over their prospects. On the contrary they are bright and cheerful.

He saye he did not state that what work the men were getting is at starvation wages. The wage scale is on a par with that of America. He said nothing at all about finding iron mills in Ireland, and the iron trade in England is brisk, instead of being "worse than the pottery business" as he was quoted.

ANOTHER CONTEST ON THE GRIDIRON

Steubenville's Proposition For a Football Game With East Liverpool.

MANAGER WALSH FAVORS IT

And Proposes That the Teams Play For $100 a Side, Date And Place to Be Arranged—Local Players Confident of Winning.

The bitterness between Steubenville and East Liverpool over football has not died out. The chances are that the two towns will yet come together over this matter and there may be a hospital list. Twice have the teams come together. Once the game resulted in a draw. The next time there was a dispute over a decision and one team left the field. They are now trying to get together, and Steubenville has asked the Dispatch sporting editor to lend a hand and make things easy. Manager Jack Farren last night called up the Dispatch by telephone and said:

"The matter must be settled and we want to settle it by playing East Liverpool again. We want them to come here and play, but they have refused. We asked them to play at Toronto, but this did not suit. Now, the proposition of Steubenville is that the sporting editor of the Dispatch name a place where the game shall be played. That he shall select the officials and see that neither side has any advantages. Let us play it on neutral grounds. Steubenville is anxious to make a little money out of East Liverpool. If we cannot beat them they will get our money, for we are there to back our players. We hope East Liverpool will communicate with the Dispatch at once regarding the location of the game. If they will not listen to reason we will go to East Liverpool again, though it is hardly fair that we be asked to go there."

The above, in this morning's Pittsburg Dispatch, when read by Manager John Walsh, of the East Liverpool team, caused a smile to flit across his genial face.

"What do I intend to do? I am going to accept their proposition, and I hereby give you the permission to state that the East Liverpool football team will play Steubenville for a purse of $100 on a date suitable for both teams. It is natural for a team to want to play on their home grounds, but I will agree to play the game at Rochester and will also agree to let the Dispatch sporting editor name the officials. The teams entered in the game must be men who played last Saturday and those who were on the bench.

ANOTHER CONTEST ON THE GRIDIRON

Steubenville's Proposition For a Football Game With East Liverpool.

MANAGER WALSH FAVORS IT

And Proposes That the Teams Play For $100 a Side, Date And Place to Be Arranged—Local Players Confident of Winning.

The bitterness between Steubenville and East Liverpool over football has not died out. The chances are that the two towns will yet come together over this matter and there may be a hospital list. Twice have the teams come together. Once the game resulted in a draw. The next time there was a dispute over a decision and one team left the field. They are now trying to get together, and Steubenville has asked the Dispatch sporting editor to lend a hand and make things easy. Manager Jack Farren last night called up the Dispatch by telephone and said:

"The matter must be settled and we want to settle it by playing East Liverpool again. We want them to come here and play, but they have refused. We asked them to play at Toronto, but this did not suit. Now, the proposition of Steubenville is that the sporting editor of the Dispatch name a place where the game shall be played. That he shall select the officials and see that neither side has any advantages. Let us play it on neutral grounds. Steubenville is anxious to make a little money out of East Liverpool. If we cannot beat them they will get our money, for we are there to back our players. We hope East Liverpool will communicate with the Dispatch at once regarding the location of the game. If they will not listen to reason we will go to East Liverpool again, though it is hardly fair that we be asked to go there."

The above, in this morning's Pittsburg Dispatch, when read by Manager John Walsh, of the East Liverpool team, caused a smile to flit across his genial face.

"What do I intend to do? I am going to accept their proposition, and I hereby give you the permission to state that the East Liverpool football team will play Steubenville for a purse of $100 on a date suitable for both teams. It is natural for a team to want to play on their home grounds, but I will agree to play the game at Rochester and will also agree to let the Dispatch sporting editor name the officials. The teams entered in the game must be men who played last Saturday and those who were on the bench.

A NINE-FOOT CHANNEL AS SOON AS POSSIBLE

Declaration Favoring This and a Sufficient Appropriation Adopted at Parkersburg Meeting.

THE SENTIMENT UNANIMOUS FOR EARLY WORK

Parkersburg, W. Va., November 12.—(Special)—Nearly 600 prominent and influential men of the Ohio valley make up the convention of the Ohio Valley Improvement association. They are sanguine and enthusiastic beyond all expectation.

It was almost 10 o'clock today before the convention was called to order. The following officers were elected: President, John L. Vance; treasurer, J. D. Parker; secretary and general manager, E. P. Wilson, Cincinnati; vice presidents, George H. Anderson, Pittsburg; Huling H. Quarrier, Wheeling; Albert Bettinger, Cincinnati; Colonel W. W. Hite, C. J. Murphy, Marion Wright.

The Wellsville delegation spent this morning at Blennerhasset island viewing the site of the proposed dam to be built there.

S. D. Cochrane, of Kittanning, chairman of the Allegheny River Improvement association, was the first speaker today.

Congressman-elect Woodyard, of Parkersburg, addressed the convention, saying that when he went to congress he would give his time to furthering the improvement of the Ohio.

Captain John F. Dravo, the veteran river and coal man of Pittsburg and Beaver, was then introduced as the youthful member of the convention. He was loudly cheered and applauded when he took the platform to speak. The captain showered flattery on the Wabash railroad for certain favors to river interests, heralding the railroad as the friend of the river interests.

J. B. Finley, chairman of the resolution committee, presented a resolution requesting that steps be taken to raise $25,000 to defray the expenses for the coming year; also the following:

"Resolved, That this association requests of the congress of the United States to provide at its adjourned session for a survey of the Ohio river from the Little Miami to Cairo, with the object of preparing plans and estimates for the improvement of the river between the points named, so as to provide a nine-foot stage at low water; that the making of this request be put in the hands of the executive council with full discretion as to procedure."

The resolutions were adopted by a rising vote. Subscriptions were then asked for. Mr. Gibbs, president of the Business men's league, pledged in behalf of Cincinnati organizations $6,000; Wheeling board of trade, $200; Mr. Holt, Beaver, $25; Builders' exchange, Beaver county, $25; Pittsburg Chamber of Commerce, $200, and business interests, $5,000. Many towns pledged from $10 to $250. Evansville was selected as the next place of meeting.

The East Liverpool delegation left for home this afternoon. The members are enthusiastic over the success of the meeting.

W. E. ..ells was made chairman of the sub-committee on resolutions and W. H. Surles a member of the committee on nominations.

Dr. Marshall and W. L. Thompson said today that all are highly gratified with the success of the meeting, and that its influence on the nation will tell for good.

If the contemplated trip to Washington to see President Roosevelt in the interests of an improved Ohio river is made, the East Liverpool delegation will be in evidence.

Yesterday afternoon was devoted almost wholly to speeches, and every phase of the river question was argued by powerful speakers. The speeches were all of the same tenor, favoring immediate steps by the government for improving the river from Pittsburg to Cairo, with a guaranteed appropriation sufficient to allow the work to proceed with all possible haste. A nine foot channel, instead of one of six feet, as contemplated in present plans, is the well-nigh universal demand.

The East Liverpool delegates, well armed with statistics, are catching the ears of congressmen wherever possible and making telling arguments. A delegation of business men from the Ohio valley to go to Washington, call upon the president and urge him to take up the matter of Ohio river improvement in his forthcoming message has virtually been decided upon.

Of the many excellent speeches made at the convention yesterday afternoon none were better nor more effective than those of Congressmen B. B. Dovener, and C. H. Grosvenor and R. W. Tayler. A Summary of Congressman Tayler's remarks follows. Captain Dovener said he had always been a friend of river improvement and was ready to work and act for it until barges could be loaded with coal at the Monongahela river headwaters and floated to the gulf of Mexico. He predicted that this would be brought about in the next ten years.

Gen. Grosvenor made a characteristic address, saying that the people of Ohio must not go to Washington begging, but demanding as a right the money for the great improvement.

Other congressmen who spoke were Kehoe, Stanley and Shirley, of Kentucky, and Hemenway, of Indiana. Congressman-elect H. Kirke Porter, of Pittsburg, and Attorney J. Francis Burke, of that city, ably presented the needs of the Pittsburg manufacturers and the interests of the people in general in the proposed improvement. R. S. Holt spoke for the Beaver valley.

Governor Nash was kept away by illness.

The delegates are being royally entertained and the little city is being warmly praised for its hospitality.

One of the encouraging features of the convention was the fact that every one of the congressmen who spoke yesterday agreed to give his hearty support to the plan for the immediate improvement of the river.

A petition will be circulated through the Ohio valley for signatures asking

DECREE OF OUSTER

IN THE HANOVER TOWNSHIP ELECTION DISPUTE.

George W. Conser, Who Has Been Acting as Trustee, Must Step Out.

Lisbon, November 12.—(Special.)—In the case of Ohio on relation of George Figley against George W. Conser, a decree of ouster was issued against Conser, who has been acting as trustee of Hanover township to which he was declared elected last spring, and of which Figley was declared the legal incumbent.

The action was brought in quo warranto proceedings. Several questionable bollots were wrongfully rejected that should have been counted for Figley.

Judge Laubie decided the legislature had not provided any law for contesting an election, and the action was regular. Judge Laubie gave a lengthy opinion in the case. He gave the election officers credit for being honestly mistaken. The judge counted four of the rejected votes for Figley and one for Conser, giving the election to the plaintiff by a majority of two. An application for a new trial was rejected, and defendant's attorney will file a bill of exceptions.

HURT ON A TRAIN

James W. Davis Thrown Against a Window And Most Painfully Injured.

While en route home on the train yesterday from Salineville, James W. Davis, of Jefferson street, was thrown violently against a car window by the sudden lurching of the train and received very painful injuries to his right hand and head.

He fell partially through the window breaking the glass into smithereens. His head was cut badly and his hand gashed in several places. Upon arriving home Mr. Davis had his wounds dressed by a local physician.

RAILROAD MERGER HAS BEEN EFFECTED

Another Step Toward Connecting Lisbon and Western and Wabash Routes.

LINE ACROSS THE COUNTY

As Well As a Trolley Road From Youngstown to Lisbon And East Liverpool Among the Projects That Now Appear Promising.

Lisbon, November 12.—(Special)—The consolidation agreement between the Pittsburg, Lisbon and Western Railroad company and the Shenango and Beaver Valley Railway company was filed yesterday with the secretary of state of Ohio and the secretary of state of Pennsylvania.

This completes the legal work in the reorganization proceedings which have been going on, whereby the new Pittsburg, Lisbon and Western Railway company acquired the Salem railroad and the Pittsburg, Lisbon & Western railroad, and has planned for extensions to a connection with the Wheeling and Lake Erie railroad on the west and with New Castle and Pittsburg on the east. A corps of engineers has been at work in this connection for the past six months and final surveys have been completed over most of the projected extensions.

Railroad men say a link of 24 miles must be built to connect the Wheeling and Lake Erie and Wabash with the newly consolidated lines, making a second Wabash line from Chicago to Pittsburg and another east and west through trunk line by connection with the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg road.

Congressman R. W. Tayler is believed to have retired from political life to devote his time to looking after the legal matters in connection with the new lines. His law firm effected the consolidation of the two roads.

Columbiana county, and Lisbon in particular, will be greatly blessed within the next eighteen months by railroad enterprises. We are sure of a steam railroad line through the county, by the way of Lisbon, from New Galilee west to some point beyond Bayard, says the Lisbon Patriot. This line is intended to be later on, a through line from New York to Chicago and St. Louis. It will take in Pittsburg at once, and divide the trade with the Pennsylvania company. Lisbon will likely be made the end of a division and here will be located railroad shops of great dimensions. The western part of the county will be given railroad facilities to reach the county seat and to move their surplus products to eastern markets. This system will be a part of the Wabash system.

Then again the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad company is moving in the matter of constructing a line of road from the river up the West Fork of Beaver and over through Dungannon, connecting with the C. & P. railroad between Kensington and Bayard. This line is intended to open up the im-

THE BIRTHDAY OF BUCKEYE STATE

Anniversary of the Signing of the First Constitution Occurs November 29.

CHILLICOTHE TO CELEBRATE

Next Spring the Centennial of the First State Inauguration Will Be Observed — Both Events Full of Historic Interest.

Chillicothe, November 12.—(Special)—The recent act of the general assembly in appropriating $10,000 for the purpose, insures the holding of Ohio's centennial celebration in the spring of 1903. The celebration will be held at Chillicothe, the first capital of the state, under the auspices of the State Historical and Archaeological society, in May, this month being decided upon in place of March, when the first state administration was inaugurated, on account of the usual inclemency of the latter month.

Another centennial anniversary is to be celebrated, also at Chillicothe, which will be a fitting prelude and preparation for the state celebration. This is the one hundredth anniversary of the signing of the first constitution of Ohio, which took place on Nov. 29, 1802. The adoption of this original constitution marked the completion of the labors of the convention, which met at Chillicothe on Nov. 1, 1802, pursuant to an act of congress authorizing it, for the purpose of deciding upon the expediency of statehood for the eastern division of the Northwest territory, including, practically, what is now the state of Ohio. This enabling act of congress was one of the closing scenes in a long and bitter struggle for supremacy between Gen. Arthur St. Clair, territorial governor, and the Democratic-Republican followers of Thomas Jefferson, under the leadership of Nathaniel Massie, Thomas Worthington, Edward Tiffin, of Ross county, Jeremiah Morrow, of Warren county, Charles Willing Bryd, William Henry Harrison and Return J. Meigs, of Washington county.

The celebration ordinance of 1787 provided for the creation of a state from any one of the three subdivisions of the Northwest territory, whenever such part should contain 60,000 free inhabitants. Seeing that the eastern subdivision, now Ohio, would be anti-Federalist in politics, St. Clair himself a stronk Federalist, began working against statehood as early as 1798, while the Jeffersonians opposed his every move. So bitter was the struggle and so unpopular was St Clair, that on one occasion, at Chillicothe, the house at which he was staying was stormed by a mob, and he was only saved by the efforts of Thomas Worthington, one of his stroggest opponents. Finally the Jeffersonians triumphed, St. Clair was deposed from office, the constitutional convention was held, and Ohio became a state.

It is peculiarly appropriate that the two celebrations referred to should be held at Chillicothe. That town was headquarters for the opponents of St Clair; at it met the territorial assembly; in the old Ross county court house gathered the constitutional convention; and the same building became the first state house of Ohio. Then, too, many of the first state officials were from Chillicothe, a remarkable list of able men.

The celebration of the anniversary of this event which was important not only to Ohio but to the country at large, will be held at Chillicothe, Nov 29, 1902. At 11 oclock, in the morning, as part of the exercises, will be the unveiling of a bronze tablet marking the site of the first state house and commemorating the signing of the original constitution.

The event will be full of historical interest. A general invitation is extended to anyone and everyone who is interested in the history of Ohio, the first and greatest state carved from the Northwest territory.

TWO COMPANIES TO BUILD CROSS-COUNTY TROLLEY LINE

Salem, November 11.—A. M. Anderson, of Youngstown, one of the most prominent electric railway men of northern Ohio, was in Salem yesterday on business. Mr. Anderson was at one time general manager of the Mahoning Valley lines, which include the Youngstown-Warren line and the Youngstown-Sharon-New Castle line. While here Mr. Anderson admitted to a friend that he was no longer connected with the Youngstown lines, but was looking about for something good in the street railway business.

Mr. Anderson visited a number of local business men, but as far as can be learned he had nothing to present in the way of a proposition nor did he make a request for anything. His visit appeared to be in the nature of a prospecting trip. He left for Canton and intended to go into Cleveland over the A. B. C. street railway line.

The gentleman is apparently fully posted on the intentions of the people behind the project to build a street railway from Youngstown to East Liverpool, through Salem nd Lisbon, although he did not talk at length on the matter. From his conversation it is believed that the line from Youngstown to Salem, while being connected with it, is not really a part of the Salem-East Liverpool line. The impression he conveyed here is that two companies will build the line between the Ohio and Mahoning valleys.

In this paper yesterday was given the route of the cross-county line from Salem to East Liverpool. J. F. Spence, the surveyor having the matter in charge, in making known the route in this county, fought shy of saying anything about the route between this city and Youngstown. Mr Anderson is quoted as saying that after leaving Youngstown a viaduct across the valley will be built from the foot of Mahoning avenue. Then the route will be through Austintown and Canfield. From the latter town it will run direct to Salem.

Mr. Anderson is of the opinion that the companies having the project in charge will buy or lease the street railway lines in each city where they expect to do business, providing the same can be done on satisfactory terms. If not, he thinks the project will have funds enough behind it to construct competing lines in all places where it sees fit to do so. Cleveland and Youngstown capital is behind the project, it is said.

FINANCES OF THE CITY PRESENT GRAVE PROBLEM

CITY SOLICITOR OPPOSES IMMEDIATE ACTION

That the city of East Liverpool is "up against it" financially, was made so plain at the meeting of the city dads last night that to even those entirely conversant with all the details, the situation is positively alarming. The payroll for the month aggregated nearly $8,000, every cent of which had to be borrowed in anticipation of the receipt of the next installment from the county treasurer.

It has been apparent to all who have had to do with the attempt to collect assessments on the improvement of Trentvale street, Calcutta road and Pennsylvania avenue, that it could not be accomplished without unlimited trouble and litigation. Several hundred damage suits are now pending in which property holders on Pennsylvania avenue refuse to permit the city to assess according to benefits in excess of 25 per cent. of the property valuation.

A resolution was presented last night which had been drafted at the instigation of Dr. Marshall. The document is a lengthy one, and in a nutshell, provides for the holding of a special election in this city, the question to be decided by the voters being whether bonds of the city shall be issued for the purpose of obtaining money to pay the excess of the cost of the improving of the highways leading into the city, known as Calcutta street, Trentvale street, and Pennsylvania avenue, over and above the amount assessed or to be assessed upon the lots and lands abutting on

The discussion which followed was interesting and lengthly, very many facts being brought to light which may place the present council in a fair position with the citizens and taxpayers.

Mr. Peach was the first member to take the floor on the subject, and he spoke earnestly in favor of the adoption of the measure. He could see no way in which the city could dodge the issue. While the law provides for the collection of assessments by benefits, he thought there had been many irregularities in the matter of apportioning the assessment on the part of the boards and later by the equalizers. As the bills for the improvement of these thoroughfares had come due the city has been compelled, through its inability to collect the assessments, to borrow the money. Upon these amounts the city was compelled to pay interest at the rate of 7 per cent. Should the voters decide to authorize a bond issue, the rate of interest would not exceed 4 per cent. The city must have the money from one source or the other, and he was in favor of the resolution. Mr. Peach thought there should be no delay in getting the question before the voters.

Every member of the council had something to say, and in a few instances the remarks were quite pointed. Messrs. Nice, Horwell, Bullock, Orr and McConnell added a few words, indicating that, while they appreciated the position in which the city is placed at this time, and were convinced there was no other way round the dilemma, still they desired to have it understood that the present council had nothing whatever to do with placing the city in the position financially that it has now been found. It was recalled that Dr. Marshall had been the individual who argued for, and succeeded finally, in having passed the measure for collecting assessments according to benefits, and the majority of the members thought the responsibility should not be misplaced.

The solicitor argued against the adoption of the resolution at this time, explaining that should the latest plan be adopted it might be difficult to collect anything under the original plan. Considerable money had already been collected on a 25 per cent. basis. It was his opinion that all means at hand should be employed to collect the several amounts under the old plan before taking action upon the Marshall resolution. An adjourned meeting will be held Friday evening, and at that time it is likely some definte action will be taken.

PETITION DISMISSED

Circuit Court Rejects the Plear for Receiver for Dungannon Creamery.

Lisbon, November 12.—(Special.)—The petition filed by a number of the stockholders of the Dungannon Creamery company, asking for a dissolution of the corporation, was dismissed. The company was formed in 1899, and in less than two years a number of the stockholders came into court alleging the object for which it had been organized had not been realized.

It was not shown, however, that the firm was not insolvent, and the court held that the time had been too brief to declare whether the venture had been a success.

AGONIZING DEATH OF LITTLE CHILD

Four-Year Old Girl Falls Into a Boiler Full of Scalding Water.

SUFFERED FOR 24 HOURS

Death Coming to Her Relief This Morning—The Victim the Child of Mr. And Mrs. William Pierce, of the West End, Wellsville.

An accident occurred yesterday morning which resulted this morning in the death of Myrtle Pierce, aged 4 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Pierce, who reside on the Fair Grounds at Wellsville.

While the little girl was playing yesterday morning at the kitchen at her home she accidentally backed up and stumbled into a boilerful of scalding water. She screamed for her mother, who was standing nearby, and who at once ran to her assistance. After the child was picked up it was found that she had been seriously scalded.

Dr. J. S. Campbell was at once called. He worked for a long while with the burned child and very carefully dressed her burns. Every possible means was used to save the child's life, but death finally resulted at 9 o'clock this morning.

The body will be taken by the grieved parents to Gallipolis on the morning train tomorrow, where funeral services will be held and final interment made.

WITH THE WORKMEN IN THE CLAY PLANTS

MR. CARTWRIGHT AT HOME.

The many friends of William Cartwright of the Cartwright pottery, were pleased to see him on the streets yestr and Monday looking so much improved in health. Mr. Cartwright came down from Pittsburg Saturday evening and remained until today. He spent a few hours in his office at the plant but did not attempt any work. This was his first visit here in three months and during that time he has been the guest of his daughter, Mrs. S. R. Huss, at Pittsburg, while taking treatment from physicians in that city. He is so much improved that his physicians will permit him to visit this city at intervals.

BORDER SETS POPULAR.

The Sevres China company will continue to be busy right into the midst of the holidays. Manager F. R. Cross, of the decorating department, has an enormous stock of orders for decorated sets and specialties staring him in the face and he is filling them as fast as he can get the ware. Their border sets with burnished gold handles have become so popular that he has found it quite impossible to fill the orders for them. He will go to work on some new specialties after the holidays.

DEPLETER WAREHOUSES.

If there is any abatement of the rush of business after the holidays, and it is not at all likely that there will be, the manufacturers will all continue in full operation to stock up on all lines of staples in white ware. When all the big fall orders have been filled there will not be a warehouse in town that is not almost depleted and it is calculated that it will take until the beginning of the spring business to fill them up again. The present indications are that all the plants will be working full after the holiday vacation.

PREPARING FOR WINTER.

Preparations for the winter season are being made at the Thompson, and among other things all the broken panes in the windows of the plant are being replaced by new ones. This will protect the workmen from the chilly blasts when the cold season sets in. The big volume of business now enjoyed at this pottery shows no signs of diminishing.

IMPROVEMENTS AT SEVRES.

A force of men are at work at the Sevres re-building the grog pan. The old one has been torn out but the improvement has not interfered with the work at the plant. The company in conjunction with the city is also building a sewer from the plant to the river for the water waste. The improvements will be completed within a few days.

ON THE GOLD MACHINE.

Morris J. Carnahan, the popular young football player, has accepted a situation on the gold machine at the Sevres. He has become very popular with the enthusiasts of the game through the able way in which he has been taking care of the right end for the local team. He commenced work yesterday.

WRESTLING MATCH.

Hal Houston, one of the popular employes of the Sevres China company, has issued a challenge to any other employe of the company for a wrestling bout for a purse of $10. The challenge has been accepted and the bout is scheduled to come off Saturday afternoon at the plant.

CUT HER FINGER AND FAINTED.

Miss Cora Allison, a dresser at the Sevres, cut her finger yesterday afternoon on a piece of broken ware and fainted as a result. She was resuscitated in a few minutes by her companions and was sent to her home.

INJURED HIS FINGER.

Will Garvey, one of the jiggermen at the Sevres, cut his finger so badly yesterday that he was compelled to lay off. The injury is not a serious one and his bench mates are expecting him back to work again today.

A BABY GIRL.

A girl baby was born last Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Townley, of Union street. Mr. Townley is a printer at Cartwright's, and a popular member of the Rover association football team.

Mr. Joseph May, of the office force at Cartwright's pottery, has returned from a brief visit to Sebring.

It is reported that Fred Bennett, the well known ground layer, has gone to Trenton, to seek a situation.

Miss Erma Harvey, of the decorating department at the Sevres, is not able to be at work, owing to illness.

Frank Burrows, of Long Reach, has located in this city and is to be found in the packing shed at the East Liverpool.

Homer Vansickle, of the packing room at Cartwright's, who has been ill for several days, returned to work yesterday.

Cartwright's are packing a car of ware today for the Great Western Cereal company of St. Louis. The rush is still on with them.

A number of new benches and a chest of drawers, for storing prints, are being placed in the decalcomania department of the decorating rooms at the Sevres.

George Tritt, of Laughlin No. 2, it is reported will leave in a few days for Crooksville to take charge of the china company's slip house. His many friends will regret to hear of his departure.

Misses Amelia Kell and Maude Fortune, recognized as two of the best fillers-in in the district, have resigned their situations at the Sevres, and accepted similar ones at the Wallace & Chetwynd.

William Lamborn, of the glost end at the Sevres, will accept a situation soon at the Globe. Barney Graham, a well known and popular kilnman started yesterday in the glost end at the Sevres.

A FAMOUS FAKE

Recalled By the Death of the Man Who Helped Make the Cardiff Giant.

The death in Chicago of John J. Sampson, who admitted having helped to chisel out the "Cardiff Giant," ends the last chapter of the story of the most remarkable humbug that was ever imposed upon the American people.

This swindle was perpetrated in 1869, when it was announced that the petrified remains of a man of gigantic size had been unearthed in the vicinity of the village of Cardiff, N. Y. The men who said they had found the body at once heralded their discovery through the newspapers, and soon began a tour of the country for the purpose of exhibiting the "giant." The people accepted the fossil as genuine, and flocked to see it in large numbers in every city where it was shown. Not only was the public deceived, but antiquaries and paleontologists as well accepted the word of the exhibitors and endeavored in vain to trace the origin of the giant.

At last when a big harvest of dollars had been reaped, the swindlers were compelled to admit that the stone had been taken from a quarry in Iowa, that the "giant" had been cut into shape in Chicago, and that it was subsequently buried near Cardiff, where it was unearthed.

Probably a great many Americans who paid to see the "giant" are still alive, and they will no doubt admit that the joke of the numbug was worth the price they paid for it. Half the regret of being swindled is taken away by the belief that somebody else bit at the same bait, and every person who was humbugged by the "Cardiff Giant" had the satisfaction of knowing that he was in a numerous company.

FIREARMS IN DEMAND.

Culbertson Hold-up Causes Citizens to Prepare to Meet Highwaymen.

George Culbertson is improving slowly from the effects of the awful blow given him Monday evening by the highwaymen who held him up near the Horace Mann school building. No serious results are feared by his physician and he will be able to get around again in a few days.

Another incident bearing on the holdup has come to light. Saturday night, as Mr. Culbertson was walking from his home to the street car track, he was followed by two men as far as the intersection of the street with Pennsylvania avenue. Mr. Culbertson was walking at a rapid rate and the men did not overtake him. He heard one of them say:: "The old man is in a ——— of a hurry tonight." He is confident they were the same men who waylaid him on Monday evening.

There were heavy sales of fire arms at the East End hardware stores yesterday and it is likely that the highwaymen will meet with a warm reception if the try it again.

LOST HIS ARM

Curtis Fuller Got a Terrible Wound As a Result of Hunting Accident.

T. H. Fuller, of Pennsylvania avenue, received a letter yesterday afternoon giving further particulars to the accident to his son Curtis, near Nelsonville. The young man was hunting about six miles from that place when the accident occurred. His gun fell from his hand and in trying to catch it the weapon was discharged. The contents entered his right arm just below the elbow, almost severing it.

Two of the fingers of his left hand were badly torn and a few of the shot struck his face. He was taken to the city in a wagon and the physician who was called found it necessary to amputate the arm just below the elbow. The latter stated that he had rallied nicely from the operation and was getting along as well as could be expected under the circumstances.

Hurt By Falling Saggers.

An accident that might have been attended by more serious results occurred yesterday at Laughlin No. 3 pottery, shortly after the noon hour. A number of men were at work in one of the kilns in the glost end when one of the bungs toppled over, the heavy saggers striking the men below. Charles Demerling was badly cut about the face and several others were slightly injured. There is considerable loss in ware.

Lost His Forefinger.

John Nikesson, who runs one of the machines at the brick yard, had the first finger of his right hand severed while at work yesterday afternoon. The injury is a very painful one and will prevent him from working for some time.

Pastor McQuiston Improving.

Rev. D. W. McQuiston, of the Second U. P. church, was somewhat improved today, although still very ill. His malady is of such a nature that it will require his remaining indoors for several days and complete rest. Rev. Mr. McQuiston was taken with a severe cold one day last week while assisting a surveyor at his new residence lot on Pennsylvania avenue, and he was compelled to relinquish the supervision of the grading to Walter C. Supplee.

Arrangements Perfected.

The Odd Fellows' committee, composed of Messrs. James Robinett, Robert Newell and T. M. McKane, met last evening at the home of the latter on Ohio avenue and perfected the arrangements for the banquet they will give Friday evening in Larkins & Ferguson's hall to the members of Line Island and East Liverpool lodges. The program has not been announced, but will consist of a big supper and music and recitations.

Will Pay the Debt.

The members of the session of the Second U. P. church held their regular monthly meeting at the home of Pastor McQuiston, on St. George street. After the routine business had been disposed of the matter of paying the church debt was considered, and although it has not been announced officially it is pretty well understood that the debt will be wiped out before the close of the year.

The Oriental Princes.

There is to be some mysterious doings tonight in the P. H. C. hall. An organization from all the lodges represented in the East End is to be formed and will be known as the Oriental Princes. There are quite a number of candidates for the work this evening and a royal good time is expected. Captain Terrance, it is reported, will have charge of the ceremonies.

Helping a Disabled Comrade.

The employes of Laughlin No. 2 are ever ready to help a comrade in distress and yesterday when a subscription paper for the benefit of Robert Prosser was taken among them they responded most liberally and Mr. Prosser will receive more than $30. He was injured two weeks ago in the street car accident on Pennsylvania avenue.

Danced Until Morning.

The dance last evening at Larkin & Ferguson hall, given by the Buckeye club, was one of the most enjoyable of the season. There were at least fifty couples present and the dancing was kept up until an early hour this morning. There will be another dance this evening.

Another Scarlet Fever Case.

Another new case of scarlet fever is reported today. This time it is at the home of Mrs. Allie McElroy, on Pennsylvania avenue, and the victim is her youngest daughter. The little one is seriously though not dangerously ill. The house has been quarantined.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

F. B. Chambers is a business visitor to Pittsburg today.

Miss Tillie Copeland, of Ohio avenue, is reported among the sick today.

Dr. Hendershot was called to Smith's Ferry yesterday to see Miss Goldie Bolton, who is seriously ill.

Messrs. W. C. and E. A. Smith broke ground this morning for their new residence on Railroad street.

Miss Dollie White, who lives with Mr. and Mrs. D. F. White, of Railroad street, is reported quite ill with tonsilitis.

Irvin Allison of Pennsylvania avenue, employed as a presser at the Wallace & Chetwynd pottery, will move one day this week to his farm near Canon's Mill. He will continue his work at the pottery.

Rev. G. W. Orcutt, of the Erie street M. E. church, returned this morning from Brilliant, where the Steubenville district conference was held yesterday and Monday. Rev. Mr. Orcutt is secretary of the conference.

MILK IS SCARCE

ALMOST A FAMINE IN THE LACTEAL SUPPLY.

The Dairymen Account For It By the Necessary Change of the Food For the Cows.

East Liverpool and vicinity are now confronted with a scarcity of milk, which, though it is not as serious as other famines, is quite inconvenient to housewives, particularly those having large families, and to hotel and restaurant keepers.

The milk supply began to grow short last week when the cold snap put a practical end to the pasture of cattle. Most of the dairy cows are now housed for the winter, and the result is the annual lessening of the product.

Dairymen report less milk than at the corresponding period for several years. The direct cause of the shortage is the change of food of the cows. They have been feeding on grass all summer and now the majority of them are called off from the field and put into the stable where they get bran, fodder and other winter feed not calculated to produce milk in any considerable quantity.

This shortage, it is predicted, will continue until about Christmas, or until the dairy cows get used to the radical change of foods. As a result of the shortage of milk there will be no famine, but the consumers will not be able to get all they want at any time. There is hardly and liklihood of an advance in the price of milk as the prices for the year are always varied on the regular showing of a shortage.

MRS. IDA McDONALD,

Supreme Deputy of the Maccabees of the World.

Mrs. Ida McDonald.

MRS. McDONALD, No. 477 Beaubien Street, Detroit, Mich., is a prominent woman who was greatly benefited by the great woman's medicine, Wine of Cardui. Mrs. McDonald is the supreme deputy of the Maccabees of the World, and one of the most widely known women in the United States. Thousands of women gather to hear her lecture everywhere she goes. The great work she has done for the Maccabees is appreciated by every member of the order. She was so absorbed in her work that she neglected to give her health proper care—failed to take warning that the symptoms of approaching kidney trouble gave her, the sallow complexion and torpid liver. But Wine of Cardui cured her the same as it has cured thousands of others and Mrs. McDonald has written this letter in order that other suffering women may secure from Wine of Cardui the same relief she got from it.

"For four years I suffered with torpid liver until my skin looked yellow and dull. I then found my kidneys were affected and had severe pains across my back, and I felt that I must do something to regain my health. A friend advocated your Wine of Cardui treatment so strongly that I decided to try it, although I had little faith in patent medicines. I am now very thankful that I did so, for within ten days blessed relief came to me, and in less than three months I was cured, and have enjoyed fine health ever since. I know there is nothing better for a sick woman who wishes to enjoy perfect health and am very pleased to give my hearty endorsement."

No suffering woman can afford to ignore such a letter as Mrs. McDonald writes. Her plans and advice have proved valuable in building up one of the greatest women's organizations in the United States and she takes time to give advice which she knows will help you.

Do not delay in securing this medicine. There is nothing to gain and everything to lose by delay. The choice is before you. Will or will you not secure relief now by taking Wine of Cardui? All druggists sell $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui as well as 25c packages of Thedford's Black-Draught.

WINE of CARDUI A million suffering women have found relief in Wine of Cardui.

The fact that the agitation for a nine-foot stage of water in the Ohio from Pittsburg to Cairo was begun in a period of general prosperity, when the government treasury is plethoric with funds is a strong augury of its success. Another even stronger and more favorable phase is that nobody in the whole Ohio valley opposes the proposed improvement, but that all of its millions of inhabitants are heartily in favor of it. Moreover, the congressmen and senators from the districts and states most interested are all in earnest accord with the merchants, manufacturers and citizens generally who believe that it would be the best policy of the government, as it would certainly be best for the people, to carry out the improvements already inaugurated at once, instead of prolonging them for years. The arguments are all on the side of the river champions, and they should prevail. The undertaking is a great one, but America is accustomed to performing great works and performing them quickly and well. Moreover, the task is a small one in comparison with that of building the canal across the Isthmus. It is closely allied to that project and will, when completed, add untold millions to the tonnage which will pass through the ship canal for the Pacific coast and the other side of the world. The Parkersburg convention is doing its work enthusiastically and it should mark an epoch in the history of our already marvelous industrial and commercial development.

The plans of the recently re-organized Pittsburg, Lisbon & Western railway and of the electric traction company which proposes to build a line from Youngstown through this county to this city, to say nothing of other railroad projects which are scarcely less ambitious though less completely matured at present, are such as should give the people of this city and county great hope and encouragement. There is not likely to be any disposition on the part of the people to throw obstacles in the way of the promoters, who, this time, are backed by the capital and business enterprise essential to the success of these important undertakings. Columbiana county has waited long and patiently for railroad facilities commensurate with her greatness. When it shall become evident that the period of waiting is nearing an end, the fact will be a cause for congratulation and rejoicing.

Ohio hunters so far report meagre success in shooting game. When the returns are all in it will probably be found that they have had about the average success in shooting themselves and others.

It is said that W. R. Hearst, congressman-elect, wants to be president. The success that other Democratic editors have had in politics is certainly not sufficient to encourage him much.

May Yohe and Strong have gone to France. It is hoped their welcome will be so cordial there that they will not return to America.

Ohio has had the speakership of the house but two years in the past 100 years. If the proper effort is made her turn may come again in 1903.

"From Pittsburg to Panama" is a far cry, but give the manufacturers a navigable river to the gulf and the goods will get there.

There is no revolution in sight in Venezuela for a wonder, and there is rejoicing except among the people whose trade is war.

IMPORTANT DECISION BY CIRCUIT COURT

CONTROVERSY OVER SALEM TAX CASE PASSED UPON.

Plaintiff's Contention Not Sustained And Petition For Injunction Dismissed.

Lisbon, November 12.—(Special)—The judges commenced to hand down their decisions in circuit court this morning.

Judge John M. Cook gave out the first decision, in which was dismissed the petition of Henry C. Jones against the city of Salem and the auditor and treasurer of Columbiana county, to restrain the collection of taxes which the plaintiff held, were unjustly assessed.

The case is of interest, not so much for the amount involved, being a little over $38, but for the precedent established. Mr. Jones owns lot 74, in Waterworth's addition to Salem, with 56 feet on East High street and 12 feet on lot 72, adjoining, making a total frontage on High street of 68 feet. Lot 74 is a corner lot running lengthwise 140 feet on North Lundy street. He had improved his premises from time to time, the two tracts being thrown together, and when North Lunday street was paved with brick several years ago, he was assessed for the corner and the 12 feet of 72 which had been treated as a part of it.

The plaintiff held he could only be taxed on a single lot valuation, but the court held the city could not be expected to recognize a line which he himself had ignored. The decision sustains that of Judge P. M. Smith, given here in common pleas court a few years ago.

mense coal field at West Point and all along that valley. Such a road would add great wealth and business to that part of the country.

Again there are numerous projects on foot to build electric lines across the county, taking in Lisbon. We have inside information of one very feasible route which will be constructed next year if proper encouragement is given. This route starts at Youngstown for the present and runs to Columbiana, thence to Lisbon by way of Leetonia, and after Lisbon is reached two or three lines are in contemplation to the river. One is down the Beaver to the river, another is out Hepner Hollow and on to East Liverpool, and a third is down the Beaver to the mouth of Long's Run and then up that stream and on to East Liverpool. We believe this line will be built inside the next year. It is already financed and if a good grade can be obtained on a right of way at fair cost, the road is a go. The line will not be a cheap one for passenger traffic only, but the roadbed and rails will be of such a character as to be suitable for heavy electric engines and heavy freight. It is the purpose of the management not to stop at the river but to push on to Pittsburg. Such a line through our county would be of untold benefit.

Columbus, November 12—(Special.)—It has been reported here that the Pittsburg, Lisbon & Western company will build an extension from Lisbon, due west to Minerva, where connection will be made with a branch of the Wabash. The extension may go through or near Hanoverton.

the president to recommend the improvement to congress. Governor White will recommend a resolution favoring it to the legislature of West Virginia.

The committee on resolutions, of which W. E. Wells, of East Liverpool, is a member, last night agreed upon resolutions to be presented to the association today, requesting congress to change the plans for damming the Ohio river so as to secure a nine-foot stage of water the year round; to make sufficient appropriation to complete the work from Pittsburg to Cairo in eight years; to follow this work with the damming of the tributaries as soon as possible, and to keep the river free from obstruction.

HON. R. W. TAYLER

WARMLY APPLAUDED AS HE SPOKE OF RIVER NEEDS.

The Country Calling for More Transportation Facilities And Should Have Them.

Parkersburg, W. Va., November 11.—(Special.)—Congressman R. W. Tayler, of Lisbon, who is with the East Liverpool delegation, said when introduced yesterday that he had much trouble in getting dam No. 8 located on the Ohio river, but finally accomplished his purpose. He interspersed his remarks with witty sayings and was sorry that he was about to leave congress. It was always a happy moment to him, he said, when he could work for river improvements. Railroads, he went on to say, are incapable of handling the freight offered, and the Ohio river with an improved system of locks and dams will assist in relieving this congestion.

Manufacturers at East Liverpool, he said, cannot get sufficient cars to ship goods. He believed this a happy moment, because the country is calling for more transportation, and if the river is improved it will do much to strengthen industries and give the Ohio valley a firm hold on the markets of the world. He was warmly applauded.

WHITE'S WELCOME

A MASTERLY SPEECH ON THE CONVENTION'S OBJECTS.

Not a Selfish Scheme, But a Common Cause—Work Can Be Accomplished.

Parkersburg, W. Va., November 11.—(Special.)—Governor A. B. White, of West Virginia, yesterday delivered a masterly address in welcoming the convention to the state. He began by saying that he was glad to welcome the Pennsylvania delegation because her vast industries and resources makes her the leader among her sister states. He said that a decade would probably change events in favor of West Virginia and then Pennsylvania would be sorry. Continuing he said:

"I would welcome the delegates from the state of Ohio, whose chief product for years has been great men; for which state some of us began to feel sorry years ago and left her for other more kindly, not to say appreciative, states, like West Virginia.

"We West Virginians and our neighbors of Kentucky claim the river as our own, but generously permit citizens of the river towns to drink it while we accord to the national government the right to improve it. We long since passed Ohio as a lumber, oil, coke and coal producing state, and yet we are proud of Ohio and its people.

"We welcome the delegates from Indiana. For three years it was my privilege to be managing editor of the oldest morning paper in Hoosierdom and I was very proud of the state and its resources. Then I began to feel sorry for her and struck out for the Eldorado of West Virginia. We are appropriating Indiana's glass fortunes, leading her in the production of coal, lumber, gas and oil, and yet we yield supremacy to her in corn and dialect, poetry, in hogs and literature.

"I would welcome the delegates from Illinois, the state that early leads us in the amount of productions of coal and which in the race we are resolved to pass in the next two years. And yet we yield to her the corn and the subtle fluid made therefrom. I would welcome the delegates from old Kentucky. Proud are we of her and her famous products. But we must again impress upon her the painful fact that West Virginia again excels her in area and extent of blue grass.

"Seriously speaking, what an enormous population is to be served and what tremendous developments is to be secured by the improvement of the Ohio river, until its thousands of miles of navigable waters have a minimum channel depth of nine feet the year around. We cannot overestimate if indeed we can forsee all the results which would follow from such an improvement.

"It is trans-continental and around the world in its effects. It means that the 12,000,000 to 15,000,000 people of the Ohio valley states in a generation thereafter will number 30,000,000; that its manufactural and agricultural products, as well as its marvelous mineral products will have water transportation and cheap freights to the gulf, to Europe, to South America, and by the isthmian canal to the Pacific states and to the opening markets of the Orient. It means a revival of those days of 1790 to 1810 when at Marietta and other points on the Ohio the ship carpenter built two or three masted schooners, loaded them with products of the virgin soil and sailed them down the Ohio and Mississippi rivers and thence across the Atlantic.

"It is not a purely local or selfish scheme we meet here to advocate, but one which is truly national in scope and effect. We come as a powerful galaxy to urge a measure which means growth in trade and prosperity not only for ourselves, but for the nation. It is not an unreasonable scheme which we advocate. It is a great work, for a great nation and not to be undertaken piecemeal or dragged out for a quarter of a century. It is a work of today and for today.

"Now is the time for action. The river should be improved with locks and dams from Pittsburg to Cairo. It can be accomplished. Our needs should not be buried in a general river and harbor bill. It is big enough and important enough to stand as a special and distinct measure. We welcome the delegates as workers in a common cause and our heart and sympathies go out to you. We bid you Godspeed."

CHANGE OF LIFE.

Some sensible advice to women passing through this trying period.

The painful and annoying symptoms experienced by most women at this period of life are easily overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is especially designed to meet the needs of woman's system at the trying time of change of life.

It is no exaggeration to state that Mrs. Pinkham has over 5000 letters like the following proving the great value of her medicine at such times.

"I wish to thank Mrs. Pinkham for what her medicine has done for me. My trouble was change of life. Four years ago my health began to fail, my head began to grow dizzy, my eyes pained me, and at times it seemed as if my back would fail me, had terrible pains across the kidneys. Hot flashes were very frequent and trying. A friend advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have taken six bottles of it and am to-day free from those troubles. I cannot speak in high enough terms of the medicine. I recommend it to all and wish every suffering woman would give it a trial."—BELLA ROSS, 88 Montclair Ave., Roslindale, Mass. —$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

Philadelphia Fire.

Philadelphia, Nov. 12.—The two upper floors of the six-story building at 713 and 715 Spring Garden street, occupied by the Philadelphia Baby Carriage company, were destroyed last night by fire. The lower floors were badly damaged by water. The members of the firm, F. Bloch and H. Levi, estimate their loss between $50,000 and $75,000, on which there is a full insurance. The building is owned by Isaac M. Miller. The damage to the structure is estimated at about $10,000.

Stepped Against a Hot Stove.

A child of Mrs. Geo. T. Benson, when getting his usual Saturday night bath, stepped back against a hot stove which burned him severely. The child was in great agony and his mother could do nothing to pacify him. Remembering that she had a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm in the house, she thought she would try it. In less than half an hour after applying it the child was quiet and asleep, and in less than two weeks was well. Mrs. Benson is a well known resident of Kellar, Va. Pain Balm is an antiseptic liniment, and especially valuable for burns, cuts, bruises and sprains. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger, Druggist.

A COMPROMISE HAS BEEN DRAFTED

Substitute For Builders' Indemnity Ordinance Submitted to Council.

MANY CHANCES ARE MADE

Penalty for Violation Fixed at $100. New Code Considered—Committees Named to Redistrict the City, Arrange Boards And Fix Salaries.

A compromise for the builders' indemnity ordinance, which was thought might not hold under the laws, was submitted for the consideration of council last night. The framer of the previous ordinance was reluctant to give up the measure, but stated if the members thought best to do so in order to avoid trouble, he would make no objection.

The new ordinance provides that any person making an excavation or allowing building material to remain in the streets shall place not less than two red lghts in a conspicuous place. An additional light must be placed for every 50 feet of additional space occupied. A barrier or fence must also be placed about every such excavation or obstruction.

When a building is in course of erection or repairs and it has reached the top of the first story, those in charge must erect and maintain while the work is in progress an overhead covering from the property line to the curb, for the protection of passersby. After the first story has been passed, the sidewalk shall be kept clear and unobstructed for the use of the pedestrians.

The street commissioner is required to report all cases of excavations made or material or obstructions, placed upon any public way or street of the city by authority of the city, and also to report to council all cases of bridges or precipitous places upon the sides of any public street or way needing railing or barriers for the protection of persons or property from danger therefrom.

The penalty for a violation of this ordinance or interfering with its enforcement is fixed at not less than $100.

The street committee reported having ordered the construction of a sewer on Mulberry alley to carry the water away from the Sevres China company's plant.

The plat of the East Liverpool Land company's second addition was accepted, and the engineer was ordered to prepare plans and specifications for the paving and improving of 200 feet of the Broadway wharf.

A storm water sewer was authorized to be constructed on Bradshaw evenue from Riley avenue to Avondale street, a distance of 407 feet. The work cannot be started this year.

A proposition for the payment of about $304, which had been contracted in the improving of Springdale street, went over to the adjourned meeting.

President Nice announced it was time for the council to take up the questions included in the new code bill which the law said must be definitely decided upon between November 15 and January 1. The redistricting of the city was thought to be the most important, and a committee of five was appointed to take up the work. The committee includes the president. The others are Members Orr, Peach, Bullock and Thomas.

It will be the duty of this committee to change the boundary lines of the present wards so there will be but four wards within the city limits where now there are five. The committee's recommendations in the matter will be made to council later.

The committee appointed to determine upon the size of salaries and some of the duties of the members of the department of public service is as follows: Messrs. Peach, McConnell and Johnston. This is one of the most important in the entire list, and the committee, if it performs its duties well, will have a vast amount of work upon its hands.

The department of public safety will be looked after by Messrs. Marshall, Horwell and Barlow.

The solicitor was instructed to carry the damage case of Nancy K. Bettridge against the city to the higher court, the court of common pleas having decided against the city.

The engineer was ordered to proceed at once with the laying of sidewalks on Chestnut, Pleasant and Calcutta streets, and the street commissioner received instructions to do some grading on Edgewood avenue.

Mr. Barlow reported on a special committee appointed at the last meeting to investigate the damage claim of Thomas Chadwick, of Grant street and Lincoln avenue. He recommended the construction of a stone wall. The Chadwick property, he said, was in bad shape, and he thought the city ought to stand the expense. The engineer was instructed to prepare an estimate of the cost of building the stone wall. He will also fix grade lines on May street on the north side.

Two ordinances for the improving of Summit lane and Persimmon alley were passed under suspension of the rules, and the clerk will advertise for bids without delay.

Contractor John M. Ryan and Mr. Freshwater were the only bidders on the work of improving Robinson street, and Mr. Ryan's bid being the lowest it was accepted.

Choates & McGrew was the only bidder on the Prospect street improvement. The figure was about three times as high as it has been customary to pay and it was rejected.

The council adjourned to meet in adjourned session Friday evening of this week.

WANTED TO GET LAW

Neil Laird And Wife Prefer Charges Against Their Neighbors.

Backyard wrangles with a coal house and hydrant as the primary cause were given an airing in 'Squire McLane's court last evening, but Neil Laird and his wife underwent no radical change in their affections toward Michael Reynolds and his wife.

The former couple were certainly worked up to the point of resorting to any method just so it resulted in redress for alleged wrong done them by Reynolds and his spouse when they appeared first at the city hall with their long tale of having been the victims of threatening and abusive language.

From the story imparted by them to the police they were in no wise to blame for the uprising at their home on College street. Mrs. Laird did the most talking while in the mayor's office, and in her characteristic Irish way she held up the alleged shortcomings of the alleged guilty parties. Reynolds lives at the rear of their home on Sugar street. Both families secure water and coal from the same coal house and hydrant, and it seems that a child of Mrs. Laird was said to have been insulted by Mrs. Reynolds early last evening and that Mrs. Laird not only objected to the treatment of her child, but became very angry and wanted revenge.

Her story concluded the officers advised her to seek a justice's court, as the mayor was absent and she with her husband went to the court of 'Squire McLane. There they told the same story, but he would not take the case.

Conductor And Railway Company Are Held Responsible by Jefferson County Coroner.

Steubenville, November 11.—After four months of thorough research and investigation, Coroner Campbell has concluded the inquests over the bodies of W. F. McElroy, Harry Wiggins and Chester Walker, the three railroad men killed in a wreck on the C. & P. at Mingo on the morning of June 23.

Every bit of evidence that could possibly be secured was taken by the coroner, as was also all the dispatches that passed over the C. & P. wires the 12 hours the wrecked train was overdue, and summing it all up the coroner, while believing that Conductor Earl Frazier, of this city, had misconstrued his orders, and was under the impression that a train dispatched "annulled on the 22d" would not be run to Mingo on that day, the 21st, he was no more at fault than the railroad company, which he severely criticises for not having a better system of keeping the employes informed of the exact arrival and departure of trains.

To secure this information Coroner Campbell suggests that the company send orders repeatedly to stations where considerable switching is done, so that yard crews may know when a train is to arrive, instead of permitting the crew to be on the anxious seat for 12 hours as was Conductor Frazier's crew, which finally started for Steubenville when the southbound freight was many hours overdue. The verdict though, holds Conductor Frazier responsible for taking the main track, but it does not state that he was guilty of criminal negligence, it being due to a misunderstanding of orders.

A HAPPY CATHERING

Of the Sunday School Class of Prof. Rayman at His Home.

The home of Prof. R. E. Rayman, on Avondale street, was the scene of a happy gathering last evening, including his Sunday school class of about 70 members and 30 others. The first of the evening was spent in enjoyable games, after which followed a literary and musical program. The music which was especially pleasing, was furnished largely by members of the class.

Prof. Rayman made an address of welcome, to which C. T. Austin responded, as a representative of the class. Rev. C. G. Jordan also made fitting remarks which were followed by a humorous recitation by Dr. J. Howard Davis. This most enjoyable event will long be remembered by those who were present.

BOSSES AND BARBERS HAVE NOT AGREED

EMPLOYERS NAME COMMITTEE TO MEET JOURNEYMEN.

The Points of Difference in the Scale Over Which Views Still Diffeffr.

An interesting meeting was held last evening by the association made up of the employing barbers of the city. The business transacted was mainly of a private character and could not be given out.

Some time was spent in a further discussion of the several demands made by the journeymen in a new scale recently presented. The bosses still maintain the position taken by them when the scale was handed to their organization several weeks ago. There are a number of clauses which they will not agree to, and upon the other hand the journeyman have given out that there are one or two points on which they propose to be firm, so that it is just possible the conference to be held between the two factions will be lengthy and interesting.

A committee of five was appointed at the meeting last night, who will meet with a like number from the journeymen's union and together they will go over the scale and endeavor to come to an amicable agreement.

NOT AS BAD AS PAINTED

How William Earp Found Conditions At English Potteries—Home Trade Good.

William Earp recently returned from a visit to England and was interviewed by a reporter from another local newspaper. He states that he was so badly misquoted that he has been ridiculed and censured by his friends. He claims he did not tell the reporter that the English ware was not in demand, merely mentioning the fact that there was little trade for the ware made for American markets. Their home trade, he says, is in good condition. He did not state that the workmen were gloomy over their prospects. On the contrary they are bright and cheerful.

He saye he did not state that what work the men were getting is at starvation wages. The wage scale is on a par with that of America. He said nothing at all about finding iron mills in Ireland, and the iron trade in England is brisk, instead of being "worse than the pottery business" as he was quoted.

Thirty Minutes to Leave In.

ANOTHER CONTEST ON THE GRIDIRON

Steubenville's Proposition For a Football Game With East Liverpool.

MANAGER WALSH FAVORS IT

And Proposes That the Teams Play For $100 a Side, Date And Place to Be Arranged—Local Players Confident of Winning.

The bitterness between Steubenville and East Liverpool over football has not died out. The chances are that the two towns will yet come together over this matter and there may be a hospital list. Twice have the teams come together. Once the game resulted in a draw. The next time there was a dispute over a decision and one team left the field. They are now trying to get together, and Steubenville has asked the Dispatch sporting editor to lend a hand and make things easy. Manager Jack Farren last night called up the Dispatch by telephone and said:

"The matter must be settled and we want to settle it by playing East Liverpool again. We want them to come here and play, but they have refused. We asked them to play at Toronto, but this did not suit. Now, the proposition of Steubenville is that the sporting editor of the Dispatch name a place where the game shall be played. That he shall select the officials and see that neither side has any advantages. Let us play it on neutral grounds. Steubenville is anxious to make a little money out of East Liverpool. If we cannot beat them they will get our money, for we are there to back our players. We hope East Liverpool will communicate with the Dispatch at once regarding the location of the game. If they will not listen to reason we will go to East Liverpool again, though it is hardly fair that we be asked to go there."

The above, in this morning's Pittsburg Dispatch, when read by Manager John Walsh, of the East Liverpool team, caused a smile to flit across his genial face.

"What do I intend to do? I am going to accept their proposition, and I hereby give you the permission to state that the East Liverpool football team will play Steubenville for a purse of $100 on a date suitable for both teams. It is natural for a team to want to play on their home grounds, but I will agree to play the game at Rochester and will also agree to let the Dispatch sporting editor name the officials. The teams entered in the game must be men who played last Saturday and those who were on the bench.

A NINE-FOOT CHANNEL AS SOON AS POSSIBLE

Declaration Favoring This and a Sufficient Appropriation Adopted at Parkersburg Meeting.

THE SENTIMENT UNANIMOUS FOR EARLY WORK

Parkersburg, W. Va., November 12.—(Special)—Nearly 600 prominent and influential men of the Ohio valley make up the convention of the Ohio Valley Improvement association. They are sanguine and enthusiastic beyond all expectation.

It was almost 10 o'clock today before the convention was called to order. The following officers were elected: President, John L. Vance; treasurer, J. D. Parker; secretary and general manager, E. P. Wilson, Cincinnati; vice presidents, George H. Anderson, Pittsburg; Huling H. Quarrier, Wheeling; Albert Bettinger, Cincinnati; Colonel W. W. Hite, C. J. Murphy, Marion Wright.

The Wellsville delegation spent this morning at Blennerhasset island viewing the site of the proposed dam to be built there.

S. D. Cochrane, of Kittanning, chairman of the Allegheny River Improvement association, was the first speaker today.

Congressman-elect Woodyard, of Parkersburg, addressed the convention, saying that when he went to congress he would give his time to furthering the improvement of the Ohio.

Captain John F. Dravo, the veteran river and coal man of Pittsburg and Beaver, was then introduced as the youthful member of the convention. He was loudly cheered and applauded when he took the platform to speak. The captain showered flattery on the Wabash railroad for certain favors to river interests, heraiding the railroad as the friend of the river interests.

J. B. Finley, chairman of the resolution committee, presented a resolution requesting that steps be taken to raise $25,000 to defray the expenses for the coming year; also the following:

"Resolved, That this association requests of the congress of the United States to provide at its adjourned session for a survey of the Ohio river from the Little Miami to Cairo, with the object of preparing plans and estimates for the improvement of the river between the points named, so as to provide a nine-foot stage at low water; that the making of this request be put in the hands of the executive council with full discretion as to procedure."

The resolutions were adopted by a rising vote. Subscriptions were then asked for. Mr. Gibbs, president of the Business men's league, pledged in behalf of Cincinnati organizations $6,000; Wheeling board of trade, $200; Mr. Holt, Beaver, $25; Builders' exchange, Beaver county, $25; Pittsburg Chamber of Commerce, $200, and business interests, $5,000. Many towns pledged from $10 to $250. Evansville was selected as the next place of meeting.

The East Liverpool delegation left for home this afternoon. The members are enthusiastic over the success of the meeting.

W. E. Wells was made chairman of the sub-committee on resolutions and W. H. Surles a member of the committee on nominations.

Dr. Marshall and W. L. Thompson said today that all are highly gratified with the success of the meeting, and that its influence on the nation will tell for good.

If the contemplated trip to Washington to see President Roosevelt in the interests of an improved Ohio river is made, the East Liverpool delegation will be in evidence.

Yesterday afternoon was devoted almost wholly to speeches, and every phase of the river question was argued by powerful speakers. The speeches were all of the same tenor, favoring immediate steps by the government for improving the river from Pittsburg to Cairo, with a guaranteed appropriation sufficient to allow the work to proceed with all possible haste. A nine foot channel, instead of one of six feet, as contemplated in present plans, is the well-nigh universal demand.

The East Liverpool delegates, well armed with statistics, are catching the ears of congressmen wherever possible and making telling arguments. A delegation of business men from the Ohio valley to go to Washington, call upon the president and urge him to take up the matter of Ohio river improvement in his forthcoming message has virtually been decided upon.

Of the many excellent speeches made at the convention yesterday afternoon none were better nor more effective than those of Congressmen B. B. Dovener, and C. H. Grosvenor and R. W. Tayler. A Summary of Congressman Tayler's remarks follows. Captain Dovener said he had always been a friend of river improvement and was ready to work and act for it until barges could be loaded with coal at the Monongahela river headwaters and floated to the gulf of Mexico. He predicted that this would be brought about in the next ten years.

Gen. Grosvenor made a characteristic address, saying that the people of Ohio must not go to Washington begging, but demanding as a right the money for the great improvement.

Other congressmen who spoke were Kehoe, Stanley and Shirley, of Kentucky, and Hemenway, of Indiana. Congressman-elect H. Kirke Porter, of Pittsburg, and Attorney J. Francis Burke, of that city, ably presented the needs of the Pittsburg manufacturers and the interests of the people in general in the proposed improvement. R. S. Holt spoke for the Beaver valley.

Governor Nash was kept away by illness.

The delegates are being royally entertained and the little city is being warmly praised for its hospitality.

One of the encouraging features of the convention was the fact that every one of the congressmen who spoke yesterday agreed to give his hearty support to the plan for the immediate improvement of the river.

A petition will be circulated through the Ohio valley for signatures asking

DECREE OF OUSTER

IN THE HANOVER TOWNSHIP ELECTION DISPUTE.

George W. Conser, Who Has Been Acting as Trustee, Must Step Out.

Lisbon, November 12.—(Special.)—In the case of Ohio on relation of George Figley against George W. Conser, a decree of ouster was issued against Conser, who has been acting as trustee of Hanover township to which he was declared elected last spring, and of which Figley was declared the legal incumbent.

The action was brought in quo warranto proceedings. Several questionable ballots were wrongfully rejected that should have been counted for Figley.

Judge Laubie decided the legislature had not provided any law for contesting an election, and the action was regular. Judge Laubie gave a lengthy opinion in the case. He gave the election officers credit for being honestly mistaken. The judge counted four of the rejected votes for Figley and one for Conser, giving the election to the plaintiff by a majority of two. An application for a new trial was rejected, and defendant's attorney will file a bill of exceptions.

HURT ON A TRAIN

James W. Davis Thrown Against a Window And Most Painfully Injured.

While en route home on the train yesterday from Salineville, James W. Davis, of Jefferson street, was thrown violently against a car window by the sudden lurching of the train and received very painful injuries to his right hand and head.

He fell partially through the window breaking the glass into smithereens. His head was cut badly and his hand gashed in several places. Upon arriving home Mr. Davis had his wounds dressed by a local physician.

RAILROAD MERGER HAS BEEN EFFECTED

Another Step Toward Connecting Lisbon and Western and Wabash Routes.

LINE ACROSS THE COUNTY

As Well As a Trolley Road From Youngstown to Lisbon And East Liverpool Among the Projects That Now Appear Promising.

Lisbon, November 12.—(Special)—The consolidation agreement between the Pittsburg, Lisbon and Western Railroad company and the Shenango and Beaver Valley Railway company was filed yesterday with the secretary of state of Ohio and the secretary of state of Pennsylvania.

This completes the legal work in the reorganization proceedings which have been going on, whereby the new Pittsburg, Lisbon and Western Railway company acquired the Salem railroad and the Pittsburg, Lisbon & Western railroad, and has planned for extensions to a connection with the Wheeling and Lake Erie railroad on the west and with New Castle and Pittsburg on the east. A corps of engineers has been at work in this connection for the past six months and final surveys have been completed over most of the projected extensions.

Railroad men say a link of 24 miles must be built to connect the Wheeling and Lake Erie and Wabash with the newly consolidated lines, making a second Wabash line from Chicago to Pittsburg and another east and west through trunk line by connection with the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg road.

Congressman R. W. Tayler is believed to have retired from political life to devote his time to looking after the legal matters in connection with the new lines. His law firm effected the consolidation of the two roads.

Columbiana county, and Lisbon in particular, will be greatly blessed within the next eighteen months by railroad enterprises. We are sure of a steam railroad line through the county, by the way of Lisbon, from New Galilee west to some point beyond Bayard, says the Lisbon Patriot. This line is intended to be later on, a through line from New York to Chicago and St. Louis. It will take in Pittsburg at once, and divide the trade with the Pennsylvania company. Lisbon will likely be made the end of a division and here will be located railroad shops of great dimensions. The western part of the county will be given railroad facilities to reach the county seat and to move their surplus products to eastern markets. This system will be a part of the Wabash system.

Then again the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad company is moving in the matter of constructing a line of road from the river up the West Fork of Beaver and over through Dungannon, connecting with the C. & P. railroad between Kensington and Bayard. This line is intended to open up the im-

THE BIRTHDAY OF BUCKEYE STATE

Anniversary of the Signing of the First Constitution Occurs November 29.

CHILLICOTHE TO CELEBRATE

Next Spring the Centennial of the First State Inauguration Will Be Observed — Both Events Full of Historic Interest.

Chillicothe, November 12.—(Special)—The recent act of the general assembly in appropriating $10,000 for the purpose, insures the holding of Ohio's centennial celebration in the spring of 1903. The celebration will be held at Chillicothe, the first capital of the state, under the auspices of the State Historical and Archaeological society, in May, this month being decided upon in place of March, when the first state administration was inaugurated, on account of the usual inclemency of the latter month.

Another centennial anniversary is to be celebrated, also at Chillicothe which will be a fitting prelude and preparation for the state celebration. This is the one hundredth anniversary of the signing of the first constitution of Ohio which took place on Nov. 29 1802. The adoption of this original constitution marked the completion of the labors of the convention, which met at Chillicothe on Nov. 1, 1802, pursuant to an act of congress authorizing it, for the purpose of deciding upon the expediency of statehood for the eastern division of the Northwest territory, including, practically, what is now the state of Ohio. This enabling act of congress was one of the closing scenes in a long and bitter struggle for supremacy between Gen. Arthur St. Clair, territorial governor and the Democratic-Republican followers of Thomas Jefferson, under the leadership of Nathaniel Massie, Thomas Worthington, Edward Tiffin, of Ross county, Jeremiah Morrow, of Warren county, Charles Willing Bryd, William Henry Harrison and Return J. Meigs, of Washington county.

The celebration ordinance of 1787 provided for the creation of a state from any one of the three subdivisions of the Northwest territory, whenever such part should contain 60,000 free inhabitants. Seeing that the eastern subdivision, now Ohio, would be anti-Federalist in politics, St. Clair himself a stronk Federalist, began working against statehood as early as 1798, while the Jeffersonians opposed his every move. So bitter was the struggle and so unpopular was St. Clair, that on one occasion, at Chillicothe, the house at which he was staying was stormed by a mob, and he was only saved by the efforts of Thomas Worthington, one of his strongest opponents. Finally the Jeffersonians triumphed, St. Clair was deposed from office, the constitutional convention was held, and Ohio became a state.

It is peculiarly appropriate that the two celebrations referred to should be held at Chillicothe. That town was headquarters for the opponents of St Clair; at it met the territorial assembly; in the old Ross county court house gathered the constitutional convention; and the same building became the first state house of Ohio. Then, too, many of the first state officials were from Chillicothe, a remarkable list of able men.

The celebration of the anniversary of this event which was important not only to Ohio but to the country at large, will be held at Chillicothe, Nov 29, 1902. At 11 oclock, in the morning, as part of the exercises, will be the unveiling of a bronze tablet marking the site of the first state house and commemorating the signing of the original constitution.

The event will be full of historical interest. A general invitation is extended to anyone and everyone who is interested in the history of Ohio, the first and greatest state carved from the Northwest territory.

TWO COMPANIES TO BUILD CROSS-COUNTY TROLLEY LINE

Salem, November 11.—A. M. Anderson, of Youngstown, one of the most prominent electric railway men of northern Ohio, was in Salem yesterday on business. Mr. Anderson was at one time general manager of the Mahoning Valley lines, which include the Youngstown-Warren line and the Youngstown-Sharon-New Castle line. While here Mr. Anderson admitted to a friend that he was no longer connected with the Youngstown lines, but was looking about for something good in the street railway business.

Mr. Anderson visited a number of local business men, but as far as can be learned he had nothing to present in the way of a proposition nor did he make a request for anything. His visit appeared to be in the nature of a prospecting trip. He left for Canton and intended to go into Cleveland over the A. B. C. street railway line.

The gentleman is apparently fully posted on the intentions of the people behind the project to build a street railway from Youngstown to East Liverpool, through Salem nd Lisbon, although he did not talk at length on the matter. From his conversation it is believed that the line from Youngstown to Salem, while being connected with it, is not really a part of the Salem-East Liverpool line. The impression he conveyed here is that two companies will build the line between the Ohio and Mahoning valleys.

In this paper yesterday was given the route of the cross-county line from Salem to East Liverpool. J. F. Spence, the surveyor having the matter in charge, in making known the route in this county, fought shy of saying anything about the route between this city and Youngstown. Mr. Anderson is quoted as saying that after leaving Youngstown a viaduct across the valley will be built from the foot of Mahoning avenue. Then the route will be through Austintown and Canfield. From the latter town it will run direct to Salem.

Mr. Anderson is of the opinion that the companies having the project in charge will buy or lease the street railway lines in each city where they expect to do business, providing the same can be done on satisfactory terms. If not, he thinks the project will have funds enough behind it to construct competing lines in all places where it sees fit to do so. Cleveland and Youngstown capital is behind the project, it is said.

A Bond Issue Strongly Advocated in Council As the Way Out of Existing Difficulties.

CITY SOLICITOR OPPOSES IMMEDIATE ACTION

That the city of East Liverpool is "up against it" financially, was made so plain at the meeting of the city dads last night that to even those entirely conversant with all the details, the situation is positively alarming. The payroll for the month aggregated nearly $8,000, every cent of which had to be borrowed in anticipation of the receipt of the next installment from the county treasurer.

It has been apparent to all who have had to do with the attempt to collect assessments on the improvement of Trentvale street, Calcutta road and Pennsylvania avenue, that it could not be accomplished without unlimited trouble and litigation. Several hundred damage suits are now pending in which property holders on Pennsylvania avenue refuse to permit the city to assess according to benefits in excess of 25 per cent. of the property valuation.

A resolution was presented last night which had been drafted at the instigation of Dr. Marshall. The document is a lengthy one, and in a nutshell, provides for the holding of a special election in this city, the question to be decided by the voters being whether bonds of the city shall be issued for the purpose of obtaining money to pay the excess of the cost of the improving of the highways leading into the city, known as Calcutta street, Trentvale street, and Pennsylvania avenue, over and above the amount assessed or to be assessed upon the lots and lands abutting on

The discussion which followed was interesting and lengthly, very many facts being brought to light which may place the present council in a fair position with the citizens and taxpayers.

Mr. Peach was the first member to take the floor on the subject, and he spoke earnestly in favor of the adoption of the measure. He could see no way in which the city could dodge the issue. While the law provides for the collection of assessments by benefits, he thought there had been many irregularities in the matter of apportioning the assessment on the part of the boards and later by the equalizers. As the bills for the improvement of these thoroughfares had come due the city has been compelled, through its inability to collect the assessments, to borrow the money. Upon these amounts the city was compelled to pay interest at the rate of 7 per cent. Should the voters decide to authorize a bond issue, the rate of interest would not exceed 4 per cent. The city must have the money from one source or the other, and he was in favor of the resolution. Mr. Peach thought there should be no delay in getting the question before the voters.

Every member of the council had something to say, and in a few instances the remarks were quite pointed. Messrs. Nice, Horwell, Bullock, Orr and McConnell added a few words, indicating that, while they appreciated the position in which the city is placed at this time, and were convinced there was no other way round the dilemma, still they desired to have it understood that the present council had nothing whatever to do with placing the city in the position financially that it has now been found. It was recalled that Dr. Marshall had been the individual who argued for, and succeeded finally, in having passed the measure for collecting assessments according to benefits, and the majority of the members thought the responsibility should not be misplaced.

The solicitor argued against the adoption of the resolution at this time, explaining that should the latest plan be adopted it might be difficult to collect anything under the original plan. Considerable money had already been collected on a 25 per cent basis. It was his opinion that all means at hand should be employed to collect the several amounts under the old plan before taking action upon the Marshall resolution. An adjourned meeting will be held Friday evening, and at that time it is likely some definte action will be taken.

AGONIZING DEATH OF LITTLE CHILD

Four-Year Old Girl Falls Into a Boiler Full of Scalding Water.

SUFFERED FOR 24 HOURS

Death Coming to Her Relief This Morning—The Victim the Child of Mr. And Mrs. William Pierce, of the West End, Wellsville.

An accident occurred yesterday morning which resulted this morning in the death of Myrtle Pierce, aged 4 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Pierce, who reside on the Fair Grounds at Wellsville.

While the little girl was playing yesterday morning at the kitchen at her home she accidentally backed up and stumbled into a boilerful of scalding water. She screamed for her mother, who was standing nearby, and who at once ran to her assistance. After the child was picked up it was found that she had been seriously scalded.

Dr. J. S. Campbell was at once called. He worked for a long while with the burned child and very carefully dressed her burns. Every possible means was used to save the child's life, but death finally resulted at 9 o'clock this morning.

The body will be taken by the grieved parents to Gallipolis on the morning train tomorrow, where funeral services will be held and final interment made

PETITION DISMISSED

Circuit Court Rejects the Plear for Receiver for Dungannon Creamery.

Lisbon, November 12.—(Special.)—The petition filed by a number of the stockholders of the Dungannon Creamery company, asking for a dissolution of the corporation, was dismissed. The company was formed in 1899, and in less than two years a number of the stockholders came into court alleging the object for which it had been organized had not been realized.

It was not shown, however, that the firm was not insolvent, and the court held that the time had been too brief to declare whether the venture had been a success.

Sewer Pipe Plant Owner Dead.

A report has reached this city from Angolia, N. Y., of the death of John Lyth, who is the owner of the big sewer pipe plant just east of this city.

The man who reads the News Review reads the best East Liverpool paper.

WITH THE WORKMEN IN THE CLAY PLANTS

MR. CARTWRIGHT AT HOME.

The many friends of William Cartwright of the Cartwright pottery, were pleased to see him on the streets yestr and Monday looking so much improved in health. Mr. Cartwright came down from Pittsburg Saturday evening and remained until today. He spent a few hours in his office at the plant but did not attempt any work. This was his first visit here in three months and during that time he has been the guest of his daughter, Mrs. S. R. Huss, at Pittsburg, while taking treatment from physicians in that city. He is so much improved that his physicians will permit him to visit this city at intervals.

BORDER SETS POPULAR.

The Sevres China company will continue to be busy right into the midst of the holidays. Manager F. R. Cross, of the decorating department, has an enormous stock of orders for decorated sets and specialties staring him in the face and he is filling them as fast as he can get the ware. Their border sets with burnished gold handles have become so popular that he has found it quite impossible to fill the orders for them. He will go to work on some new specialties after the holidays.

DEPLETER WAREHOUSES.

If there is any abatement of the rush of business after the holidays, and it is not at all likely that there will be, the manufacturers will all continue in full operation to stock up on all lines of staples in white ware. When all the big fall orders have been filled there will not be a warehouse in town that is not almost depleted and it is calculated that it will take until the beginning of the spring business to fill them up again. The present indications are that all the plants will be working full after the holiday vacation.

PREPARING FOR WINTER.

Preparations for the winter season are being made at the Thompson, and among other things all the broken panes in the windows of the plant are being replaced by new ones. This will protect the workmen from the chilly blasts when the cold season sets in. The big volume of business now enjoyed at this pottery shows no signs of diminishing.

IMPROVEMENTS AT SEVRES.

A force of men are at work at the Sevres re-building the grog pan. The old one has been torn out but the improvement has not interfered with the work at the plant. The company in conjunction with the city is also building a sewer from the plant to the river for the water waste. The improvements will be completed within a few days.

ON THE GOLD MACHINE.

Morris J. Carnahan, the popular young football player, has accepted a situation on the gold machine at the Sevres. He has become very popular with the enthusiasts of the game through the able way in which he has been taking care of the right end for the local team. He commenced work yesterday.

WRESTLING MATCH.

Hal Houston one of the popular employes of the Sevres China company, has issued a challenge to any other employe of the company for a wrestling bout for a purse of $10. The challenge has been accepted and the bout is scheduled to come off Saturday afternoon at the plant.

CUT HER FINGER AND FAINTED.

Miss Cora Allison, a dresser at the Sevres, cut her finger yesterday afternoon on a piece of broken ware and fainted as a result. She was resuscitated in a few minutes by her companions and was sent to her home.

INJURED HIS FINGER.

Will Garvey, one of the jiggermen at the Sevres, cut his finger so badly yesterday that he was compelled to lay off. The injury is not a serious one and his bench mates are expecting him back to work again today.

A BABY GIRL.

A girl baby was born last Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Townley, of Union street. Mr. Townley is a printer at Cartwright's, and a popular member of the Rover association football team.

THE OLDEST PRINTER.

Thomas Walklett, the oldest printer in point of service at the Sevres, resigned at the end of last week. It is reported that he will accept a similar situation at the Standard.

AMONG THE POTTERS.

Misses Nellie Snapes and Lizzie Miebach, of the decorating room at Cartwright's, were reported among the sick yesterday.

Charles Pelley, a tinter at the Sevres, is on the sick list.

Tom Walcott started yesterday at the Standard as a printer.

William Hook, of Evansville, Ind., has taken a situation at the Sevres as presser.

Miss Eliza McLaughlin has been promoted from a rubber to a transferer at Cartwright's.

Wash Baker, of the glost end at the Sevres, is working out his notice and will go to the Buckeye.

Mr. Joseph May, of the office force at Cartwright's pottery, has returned from a brief visit to Sebring.

It is reported that Fred Bennett, the well known ground layer, has gone to Trenton, to seek a situation.

Miss Erma Harvey, of the decorating department at the Sevres, is not able to be at work, owing to illness.

Frank Burrows, of Long Reach, has located in this city and is to be found in the packing shed at the East Liverpool.

Homer Vansickle, of the packing room at Cartwright's, who has been ill for several days, returned to work yesterday.

Cartwright's are packing a car of ware today for the Great Western Cereal company of St. Louis. The rush is still on with them.

A number of new benches and a chest of drawers, for storing prints, are being placed in the decalcomania department of the decorating rooms at the Sevres.

George Tritt, of Laughlin No. 2, it is reported will leave in a few days for Crooksville to take charge of the china company's slip house. His many friends will regret to hear of his departure.

Misses Amelia Kell and Maude Fortune, recognized as two of the best fillers-in in the district, have resigned their situations at the Sevres, and accepted similar ones at the Wallace & Chetwynd.

William Lamborn, of the glost end at the Sevres, will accept a situation soon at the Globe. Barney Graham, a well known and popular kilnman started yesterday in the glost end at the Sevres.

A FAMOUS FAKE

Recalled By the Death of the Man Who Helped Make the Cardiff Giant.

The death in Chicago of John J. Sampson, who admitted having helped to chisel out the "Cardiff Giant," ends the last chapter of the story of the most remarkable humbug that was ever imposed upon the American people.

This swindle was perpetrated in 1869, when it was announced that the petrified remains of a man of gigantic size had been unearthed in the vicinity of the village of Cardiff, N. Y. The men who said they had found the body at once heralded their discovery through the newspapers, and soon began a tour of the country for the purpose of exhibiting the "giant." The people accepted the fossil as genuine, and flocked to see it in large numbers in every city where it was shown. Not only was the public deceived, but antiquaries and paleontologists as well accepted the word of the exhibitors and endeavored in vain to trace the origin of the giant.

At last when a big harvest of dollars had been reaped, the swindlers were compelled to admit that the stone had been taken from a quarry in Iowa, that the "giant" had been cut into shape in Chicago, and that it was subsequently buried near Cardiff, where it was unearthed.

Probably a great many Americans who paid to see the "giant" are still alive, and they will no doubt admit that the joke of the numbug was worth the price they paid for it. Half the regret of being swindled is taken away by the belief that somebody else bit at the same bait, and every person who was humbugged by the "Cardiff Giant" had the satisfaction of knowing that he was in a numerous company.

FIREARMS IN DEMAND.

Culbertson Hold-up Causes Citizens to Prepare to Meet Highwaymen.

George Culbertson is improving slowly from the effects of the awful blow given him Monday evening by the highwaymen who held him up near the Horace Mann school building. No serious results are feared by his physician and he will be able to get around again in a few days.

Another incident bearing on the holdup has come to light. Saturday night, as Mr. Culbertson was walking from his home to the street car track, he was followed by two men as far as the intersection of the street with Pennsylvania avenue. Mr. Culbertson was walking at a rapid rate and the men did not overtake him. He heard one of them say:: "The old man is in a ——— of a hurry tonight." He is confident they were the same men who waylaid him on Monday evening.

There were heavy sales of fire arms at the East End hardware stores yesterday and it is likely that the highwaymen will meet with a warm receptibn if the try it again.

LOST HIS ARM

Curtis Fuller Got a Terrible Wound As a Result of Hunting Accident.

T. H. Fuller, of Pennsylvania avenue, received a letter yesterday afternoon giving further particulars to the accident to his son Curtis, near Nelsonville. The young man was hunting about six miles from that place when the accident occurred. His gun fell from his hand and in trying to catch it the weapon was discharged. The contents entered his right arm just below the elbow, almost severing it.

Two of the fingers of his left hand were badly torn and a few of the shot struck his face. He was taken to the city in a wagon and the physician who was called found it necessary to amputate the arm just below the elbow. The latter stated that he had rallied nicely from the operation and was getting along as well as could be expected under the circumstances.

Hurt By Falling Saggers.

An accident that might have been attended by more serious results occurred yesterday at Laughlin No. 3 pottery, shortly after the noon hour. A number of men were at work in one of the kilns in the glost end when one of the bungs toppled over, the heavy saggers striking the men below. Charles Demerling was badly cut about the face and several others were slightly injured. There is considerable loss in ware.

Lost His Forefinger.

John Nikesson, who runs one of the machines at the brick yard, had the first finger of his right hand severed while at work yesterday afternoon. The injury is a very painful one and will prevent him from working for some time.

Pastor McQuiston Improving.

Rev. D. W. McQuiston, of the Second U. P. church, was somewhat improved today, although still very ill. His malady is of such a nature that it will require his remaining indoors for several days and complete rest. Rev. Mr. McQuiston was taken with a severe cold one day last week while assisting a surveyor at his new residence lot on Pennsylvania avenue, and he was compelled to relinquish the supervision of the grading to Walter C. Supplee.

Arrangements Perfected.

The Odd Fellows' committee, composed of Messrs. James Robinett, Robert Newell and T. M. McKane, met last evening at the home of the latter on Ohio avenue and perfected the arrangements for the banquet they will give Friday evening in Larkins & Ferguson's hall to the members of Line Island and East Liverpool lodges. The program has not been announced, but will consist of a big supper and music and recitations.

Will Pay the Debt.

The members of the session of the Second U. P. church held their regular monthly meeting at the home of Pastor McQuiston, on St. George street. After the routine business had been disposed of the matter of paying the church debt was considered, and although it has not been announced officially it is pretty well understood that the debt will be wiped out before the close of the year.

The Oriental Princes.

There is to be some mysterious doings tonight in the P. H. C. hall. An organization from all the lodges represented in the East End is to be formed and will be known as the Oriental Princes. There are quite a number of candidates for the work this evening and a royal good time is expected. Captain Terrance, it is reported, will have charge of the ceremonies.

Helping a Disabled Comrade.

The employes of Laughlin No. 2 are ever ready to help a comrade in distress and yesterday when a subscription paper for the benefit of Robert Prosser was taken among them they responded most liberally and Mr. Prosser will receive more than $30. He was injured two weeks ago in the street car accident on Pennsylvania avenue.

Danced Until Morning.

The dance last evening at Larkin & Ferguson hall, given by the Buckeye club, was one of the most enjoyable of the season. There were at least fifty couples present and the dancing was kept up until an early hour this morning. There will be another dance this evening.

Another Scarlet Fever Case.

Another new case of scarlet fever is reported today. This time it is at the home of Mrs. Allie McElroy, on Pennsylvania avenue, and the victim is her youngest daughter. The little one is seriously though not dangerously ill. The house has been quarantined.

Miss Dollie White, who lives with Mr. and Mrs. D. F. White, of Railroad street, is reported quite ill with tonsilitis.

Rev. G. W. Orcutt, of the Erie street M. E. church, returned this morning from Brilliant, where the Steubenville district conference was held yesterday and Monday. Rev. Mr. Orcutt is secretary of the conference.

MILK IS SCARCE

ALMOST A FAMINE IN THE LACTEAL SUPPLY.

The Dairymen Account For It By the Necessary Change of the Food For the Cows.

East Liverpool and vicinity are now confronted with a scarcity of milk, which, though it is not as serious as other famines, is quite inconvenient to housewives, particularly those having large families, and to hotel and restaurant keepers.

The milk supply began to grow short last week when the cold snap put a practical end to the pasture of cattle. Most of the dairy cows are now housed for the winter, and the result is the annual lessening of the product.

Dairymen report less milk than at the corresponding period for several years. The direct cause of the shortage is the change of food of the cows. They have been feeding on grass all summer and now the majority of them are called off from the field and put into the stable where they get bran, fodder and other winter feed not calculated to produce milk in any considerable quantity.

This shortage, it is predicted, will continue until about Christmas, or until the dairy cows get used to the radical change of foods. As a result of the shortage of milk there will be no famine, but the consumers will not be able to get all they want at any time. There is hardly and liklihood of an advance in the price of milk as the prices for the year are always varied on the regular showing of a shortage.

MRS. IDA McDONALD,

Supreme Deputy of the Maccabees of the World.

MRS. McDONALD, No. 477 Beaubien Street, Detroit, Mich., is a prominent woman who was greatly benefited by the great woman's medicine, Wine of Cardui. Mrs. McDonald is the supreme deputy of the Maccabees of the World, and one of the most widely known women in the United States. Thousands of women gather to hear her lecture everywhere she goes. The great work she has done for the Maccabees is appreciated by every member of the order. She was so absorbed in her work that she neglected to give her health proper care—failed to take warning that the symptoms of approaching kidney trouble gave her, the sallow complexion and torpid liver. But Wine of Cardui cured her the same as it has cured thousands of others and Mrs. McDonald has written this letter in order that other suffering women may secure from Wine of Cardui the same relief she got from it.

Mrs. Ida McDonald.

"For four years I suffered with torpid liver until my skin looked yellow and dull. I then found my kidneys were affected and had severe pains across my back, and I felt that I must do something to regain my health. A friend advocated your Wine of Cardui treatment so strongly that I decided to try it, although I had little faith in patent medicines. I am now very thankful that I did so, for within ten days blessed relief came to me, and in less than three months I was cured, and have enjoyed fine health ever since. I know there is nothing better for a sick woman who wishes to enjoy perfect health and am very pleased to give my hearty endorsement."

No suffering woman can afford to ignore such a letter as Mrs. McDonald writes. Her plans and advice have proved valuable in building up one of the greatest women's organizations in the United States and she takes time to give advice which she knows will help you.

Do not delay in securing this medicine. There is nothing to gain and everything to lose by delay. The choice is before you. Will or will you not secure relief now by taking Wine of Cardui? All druggists sell $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui as well as 25c packages of Thedford's Black-Draught.

WINE of CARDUI A million suffering women have found relief in Wine of Cardui.

The fact that the agitation for a nine-foot stage of water in the Ohio from Pittsburg to Cairo was begun in a period of general prosperity, when the government treasury is plethoric with funds is a strong augury of its success. Another even stronger and more favorable phase is that nobody in the whole Ohio valley opposes the proposed improvement, but that all of its millions of inhabitants are heartily in favor of it. Moreover, the congressmen and senators from the districts and states most interested are all in earnest accord with the merchants, manufacturers and citizens generally who believe that it would be the best policy of the government, as it would certainly be best for the people, to carry out the improvements already inaugurated at once, instead of prolonging them for years. The arguments are all on the side of the river champions, and they should prevail. The undertaking is a great one, but America is accustomed to performing great works and performing them quickly and well. Moreover, the task is a small one in comparison with that of building the canal across the isthmus. It is closely allied to that project and will, when completed, add untold millions to the tonnage which will pass through the ship canal for the Pacific coast and the other side of the world. The Parkersburg convention is doing its work enthusiastically and it should mark an epoch in the history of our already marvelous industrial and commercial development.

The plans of the recently reorganized Pittsburg, Lisbon & Western railway and of the electric traction company which proposes to build a line from Youngstown through this county to this city, to say nothing of other railroad projects which are scarcely less ambitious though less completely matured at present, are such as should give the people of this city and county great hope and encouragement. There is not likely to be any disposition on the part of the people to throw obstacles in the way of the promoters, who this time, are backed by the capital and business enterprise essential to the success of these important undertakings. Columbiana county has waited long and patiently for railroad facilities commensurate with her greatness. When it shall become evident that the period of waiting is nearing an end, the fact will be a cause for congratulation and rejoicing.

Ohio hunters so far report meagre success in shooting game. When the returns are all in it will probably be found that they have had about the average success in shooting themselves and others.

It is said that W. R. Hearst, congressman-elect, wants to be president. The success that other Democratic editors have had in politics is certainly not sufficient to encourage him much.

May Yohe and Strong have gone to France. It is hoped their welcome will be so cordial there that they will not return to America.

Molineux has been acquitted and set free after serving four years in prison and being once sentenced to death. The law's delay has worked grievous wrong in his case if the final verdict is the correct one.

Ohio has had the speakership of the house but two years in the past 100 years. If the proper effort is made her turn may come again in 1903.

"From Pittsburg to Panama" is a far cry, but give the manufacturers a navigable river to the gulf and the goods will get there.

There is no revolution in sight in Venezuela for a wonder, and there is rejoicing except among the people whose trade is war.

Summer has evidently reconsidered her determination to stay away until May and is back for another visit.

IMPORTANT DECISION BY CIRCUIT COURT

Plaintiff's Contention Not Sustained And Petition For Injunction Dismissed.

Lisbon, November 12.—(Special)—The judges commenced to hand down their decisions in circuit court this morning.

Judge John M. Cook gave out the first decision, in which was dismissed the petition of Henry C. Jones against the city of Salem and the auditor and treasurer of Columbiana county, to restrain the collection of taxes which the plaintiff held, were unjustly assessed.

The case is of interest, not so much for the amount involved, being a little over $38, but for the precedent established. Mr. Jones owns lot 74, in Waterworth's addition to Salem, with 56 feet on East High street and 12 feet on lot 72, adjoining, making a total frontage on High street of 68 feet. Lot 74 is a corner lot running lengthwise 140 feet on North Lundy street. He had improved his premises from time to time, the two tracts being thrown together, and when North Lunday street was paved with brick several years ago, he was assessed for the corner and the 12 feet of 72 which had been treated as a part of it.

The plaintiff held he could only be taxed on a single lot valuation, but the court held the city could not be expected to recognize a line which he himself had ignored. The decision sustains that of Judge P. M. Smith given here in common pleas court a few years ago.

Four Cars Received by Contractor Freshwater And Work Will Be Pushed.

Contractor Freshwater has been handicapped the past few days by not getting brick fast enough for paving, but last night one car was received and three cars came today, which will keep them going again. The contractors have about 3,000 feet of curbing ahead now and will rush the work as fast as possible.

Chester people are very anxious to have one side of the street car line at least finished before bad weather sets in. The streets, in their present condition, would be impassable to travel should it become wet and freezing weather.

mense coal field at West Point and all along that valley. Such a road would add great wealth and business to that part of the country.

Again there are numerous projects on foot to build electric lines across the county, taking in Lisbon. We have inside information of one very feasible route which will be constructed next year if proper encouragement is given. This route starts at Youngstown for the present and runs to Columbiana, thence to Lisbon by way of Leetonia, and after Lisbon is reached two or three lines are in contemplation to the river. One is down the Beaver to the river, another is out Hepner Hollow and on to East Liverpool, and a third is down the Beaver to the mouth of Long's Run and then up that stream and on to East Liverpool. We believe this line will be built inside the next year. It is already financed and if a good grade can be obtained on a right of way at fair cost, the road is a go. The line will not be a cheap one for passenger traffic only, but the roadbed and rails will be of such a character as to be suitable for heavy electric engines and heavy freight. It is the purpose of the management not to stop at the river but to push on to Pittsburg. Such a line through our county would be of untold benefit.

Columbus, November 12—(Special.)—It has been reported here that the Pittsburg, Lisbon & Western company will build an extension from Lisbon, due west to Minerva, where connection will be made with a branch of the Wabash. The extension may go through or near Hanoverton.

the president to recommend the improvement to congress. Governor White will recommend a resolution favoring it to the legislature of West Virginia.

The committee on resolutions, of which W. E. Wells, of East Liverpool, is a member, last night agreed upon resolutions to be presented to the association today, requesting congress to change the plans for damming the Ohio river so as to secure a nine-foot stage of water the year round; to make sufficient appropriation to complete the work from Pittsburg to Cairo in eight years; to follow this work with the damming of the tributaries as soon as possible, and to keep the river free from obstruction.

HON. R. W. TAYLER

WARMLY APPLAUDED AS HE SPOKE OF RIVER NEEDS.

The Country Calling for More Transportation Facilities And Should Have Them.

Parkersburg, W. Va., November 11.—(Special.)—Congressman R. W. Tayler, of Lisbon, who is with the East Liverpool delegation, said when introduced yesterday that he had much trouble in getting dam No. 8 located on the Ohio river, but finally accomplished his purpose. He interspersed his remarks with witty sayings and was sorry that he was about to leave congress. It was always a happy moment to him, he said, when he could work for river improvements. Railroads, he went on to say, are incapable of handling the freight offered, and the Ohio river with an improved system of locks and dams will assist in relieving this congestion.

Manufacturers at East Liverpool, he said, cannot get sufficient cars to ship goods. He believed this a happy moment, because the country is calling for more transportation, and if the river is improved it will do much to strengthen industries and give the Ohio valley a firm hold on the markets of the world. He was warmly applauded.

WHITE'S WELCOME

A MASTERLY SPEECH ON THE CONVENTION'S OBJECTS.

Not a Selfish Scheme, But a Common Cause—Work Can Be Accomplished.

Parkersburg, W. Va., November 11.—(Special.)—Governor A. B. White, of West Virginia, yesterday delivered a masterly address in welcoming the convention to the state. He began by saying that he was glad to welcome the Pennsylvania delegation because her vast industries and resources makes her the leader among her sister states. He said that a decade would probably change events in favor of West Virginia and then Pennsylvania would be sorry. Continuing he said:

"I would welcome the delegates from the state of Ohio, whose chief product for years has been great men; for which state some of us began to feel sorry years ago and left her for other more kindly, not to say appreciative, states, like West Virginia.

"We West Virginians and our neighbors of Kentucky claim the river as our own, but generously permit citizens of the river towns to drink it while we accord to the national government the right to improve it. We long since passed Ohio as a lumber, oil, coke and coal producing state, and yet we are proud of Ohio and its people.

"We welcome the delegates from Indiana. For three years it was my privilege to be managing editor of the oldest morning paper in Hoosierdom and I was very proud of the state and its resources. Then I began to feel sorry for her and struck out for the Eldorado of West Virginia. We are appropriating Indiana's glass fortunes, leading her in the production of coal, lumber, gas and oil, and yet we yield supremacy to her in corn and dialect, poetry, in hogs and literature.

"I would welcome the delegates from Illinois, the state that early leads us in the amount of productions of coal and which in the race we are resolved to pass in the next two years. And yet we yield to her the corn and the subtle fluid made therefrom. I would welcome the delegates from old Kentucky. Proud are we of her and her famous products. But we must again impress upon her the painful fact that West Virginia again excels her in area and extent of blue grass.

"Seriously speaking, what an enormous population is to be served and what tremendous developments is to be secured by the improvement of the Ohio river, until its thousands of miles of navigable waters have a minimum channel depth of nine feet the year around. We cannot overestimate if indeed we can forsee all the results which would follow from such an improvement.

"It is trans-continental and around the world in its effects. It means that the 12,000,000 to 15,000,000 people of the Ohio valley states in a generation thereafter will number 30,000,000; that its manufactural and agricultural products, as well as its marvelous mineral products will have water transportation and cheap freights to the gulf, to Europe, to South America, and by the isthmian canal to the Pacific states and to the opening markets of the Orient. It means a revival of those days of 1790 to 1810 when at Marietta and other points on the Ohio the ship carpenter built two or three masted schooners, loaded them with products of the virgin soil and sailed them down the Ohio and Mississippi rivers and thence across the Atlantic.

"It is not a purely local or selfish scheme we meet here to advocate, but one which is truly national in scope and effect. We come as a powerful galaxy to urge a measure which means growth in trade and prosperity not only for ourselves, but for the nation. It is not an unreasonable scheme which we advocate. It is a great work, for a great nation and not to be undertaken piecemeal or dragged out for a quarter of a century. It is a work of today and for today.

"Now is the time for action. The river should be improved with locks and dams from Pittsburg to Cairo. It can be accomplished. Our needs should not be buried in a general river and harbor bill. It is big enough and important enough to stand as a special and distinct measure. We welcome the delegates as workers in a common cause and our heart and sympathies go out to you. We bid you Godspeed."

CHANGE OF LIFE.

Some sensible advice to women passing through this trying period.

The painful and annoying symptoms experienced by most women at this period of life are easily overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is especially designed to meet the needs of woman's system at the trying time of change of life.

It is no exaggeration to state that Mrs. Pinkham has over 5000 letters like the following proving the great value of her medicine at such times.

"I wish to thank Mrs. Pinkham for what her medicine has done for me. My trouble was change of life. Four years ago my health began to fail, my head began to grow dizzy, my eyes pained me, and at times it seemed as if my back would fail me, had terrible pains across the kidneys. Hot flashes were very frequent and trying. A friend advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have taken six bottles of it and am to-day free from those troubles. I cannot speak in high enough terms of the medicine. I recommend it to all and wish every suffering woman would give it a trial."—BELLA ROSS, 88 Montclair Ave., Roslindale, Mass.—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

Philadelphia Fire.

Philadelphia, Nov. 12.—The two upper floors of the six-story building at 713 and 715 Spring Garden street, occupied by the Philadelphia Baby Carriage company, were destroyed last night by fire. The lower floors were badly damaged by water. The members of the firm, F. Bloch and H. Levi, estimate their loss between $50,000 and $75,000, on which there is a full insurance. The building is owned by Isaac M. Miller. The damage to the structure is estimated at about $10,000.

Stepped Against a Hot Stove.

A child of Mrs. Geo. T. Benson, when getting his usual Saturday night bath, stepped back against a hot stove which burned him severely. The child was in great agony and his mother could do nothing to pacify him. Remembering that she had a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm in the house, she thought she would try it. In less than half an hour after applying it the child was quiet and asleep, and in less than two weeks was well. Mrs. Benson is a well known resident of Kellar, Va. Pain Balm is an antiseptic liniment, and especially valuable for burns, cuts, bruises and sprains. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger, Druggist.

A COMPROMISE HAS BEEN DRAFTED

Substitute For Builders' Indemnity Ordinance Submitted to Council.

MANY CHANCES ARE MADE

Penalty for Violation Fixed at $100. New Code Considered—Committees Named to Redistrict the City, Arrange Boards And Fix Salaries.

A compromise for the builders' indemnity ordinance, which was thought might not hold under the laws, was submitted for the consideration of council last night. The framer of the previous ordinance was reluctant to give up the measure, but stated if the members thought best to do so in order to avoid trouble, he would make no objection.

The new ordinance provides that any person making an excavation or allowing building material to remain in the streets shall place not less than two red lghts in a conspicuous place. An additional light must be placed for every 50 feet of additional space occupied. A barrier or fence must also be placed about every such excavation or obstruction.

When a building is in course of erection or repairs and it has reached the top of the first story, those in charge must erect and maintain while the work is in progress an overhead covering from the property line to the curb, for the protection of passersby. After the first story has been passed, the sidewalk shall be kept clear and unobstructed for the use of the pedestrians.

The street commissioner is required to report all cases of excavations made or material or obstructions, placed upon any public way or street of the city by authority of the city, and also to report to council all cases of bridges or precipitous places upon the sides of any public street or way needing railing or barriers for the protection of persons or property from danger therefrom.

The penalty for a violation of this ordinance or interfering with its enforcement is fixed at not less than $100.

3 members were present at the meeting last night, and one of the first matters taken up was the tabling of the ordinance lately proposed which conflicts with the one just outlined above.

The street committee reported having ordered the construction of a sewer on Mulberry alley to carry the water away from the Sevres China company's plant.

The plat of the East Liverpool Land company's second addition was accepted, and the engineer was ordered to prepare plans and specifications for the paving and improving of 200 feet of the Broadway wharf.

A storm water sewer was authorized to be constructed on Bradshaw evenue from Riley avenue to Avondale street, a distance of 407 feet. The work cannot be started this year.

A proposition for the payment of about $304, which had been contracted in the improving of Springdale street, went over to the adjourned meeting.

President Nice announced it was time for the council to take up the questions included in the new code bill which the law said must be definitely decided upon between November 15 and January 1. The redistricting of the city was thought to be the most important, and a committee of five was appointed to take up the work. The committee includes the president. The others are Members Orr, Peach, Bullock and Thomas.

It will be the duty of this committee to change the boundary lines of the present wards so there will be but four wards within the city limits where now there are five. The committee's recommendations in the matter will be made to council later.

The committee appointed to determine upon the size of salaries and some of the duties of the members of the department of public service is as follows: Messrs. Peach, McConnell and Johnston. This is one of the most important in the entire list, and the committee, if it performs its duties well, will have a vast amount of work upon its hands.

The department of public safety will be looked after by Messrs. Marshall, Horwell and Barlow.

The solicitor was instructed to carry the damage case of Nancy K. Bettridge against the city to the higher court, the court of common pleas having decided against the city.

The engineer was ordered to proceed at once with the laying of sidewalks on Chestnut, Pleasant and Calcutta streets, and the street commissioner received instructions to do some grading on Edgewood avenue.

Mr. Barlow reported on a special committee appointed at the last meeting to investigate the damage claim of Thomas Chadwick, of Grant street and Lincoln avenue. He recommended the construction of a stone wall. The Chadwick property, he said, was in bad shape, and he thought the city ought to stand the expense. The engineer was instructed to prepare an estimate of the cost of building the stone wall. He will also fix grade lines on May street on the north side.

Two ordinances for the improving of Summit lane and Persimmon alley were passed under suspension of the rules, and the clerk will advertise for bids without delay.

Contractor John M. Ryan and Mr. Freshwater were the only bidders on the work of improving Robinson street, and Mr. Ryan's bid being the lowest it was accepted.

Choates & McGrew was the only bidder on the Prospect street improvement. The figure was about three times as high as it has been customary to pay and it was rejected.

The council adjourned to meet in adjourned session Friday evening of this week.

WANTED TO GET LAW

Neil Laird And Wife Prefer Charges Against Their Neighbors.

Backyard wrangles with a coal house and hydrant as the primary cause were given an airing in 'Squire McLane's court last evening, but Neil Laird and his wife underwent no radical change in their affections toward Michael Reynolds and his wife.

The former couple were certainly worked up to the point of resorting to any method just so it resulted in redress for alleged wrong done them by Reynolds and his spouse when they appeared first at the city hall with their long tale of having been the victims of threatening and abusive language.

From the story imparted by them to the police they were in no wise to blame for the uprising at their home on College street. Mrs. Laird did the most talking while in the mayor's office, and in her characteristic Irish way she held up the alleged shortcomings of the alleged guilty parties. Reynolds lives at the rear of their home on Sugar street. Both families secure water and coal from the same coal house and hydrant, and it seems that a child of Mrs. Laird was said to have been insulted by Mrs. Reynolds early last evening and that Mrs. Laird not only objected to the treatment of her child, but became very angry and wanted revenge.

Her story concluded the officers advised her to seek a justice's court, as the mayor was absent and she with her husband went to the court of 'Squire McLane. There they told the same story, but he would not take the case.

Conductor And Railway Company Are Held Responsible by Jefferson County Coroner.

Steubenville, November 11.—After four months of thorough research and investigation, Coroner Campbell has concluded the inquests over the bodies of W. F. McElroy, Harry Wiggins and Chester Walker, the three railroad men killed in a wreck on the C. & P. at Mingo on the morning of June 23.

Every bit of evidence that could possibly be secured was taken by the coroner, as was also all the dispatches that passed over the C. & P. wires the 12 hours the wrecked train was overdue, and summing it all up the coroner, while believing that Conductor Earl Frazier, of this city, had misconstrued his orders, and was under the impression that a train dispatched "annulled on the 22d" would not be run to Mingo on that day, the 21st, he was no more at fault than the railroad company, which he severely criticises for not having a better system of keeping the employes informed of the exact arrival and departure of trains.

To secure this information Coroner Campbell suggests that the company send orders repeatedly to stations where considerable switching is done, so that yard crews may know when a train is to arrive, instead of permitting the crew to be on the anxious seat for 12 hours as was Conductor Frazier's crew, which finally started for Steubenville when the southbound freight was many hours overdue. The verdict though, holds Conductor Frazier responsible for taking the main track, but it does not state that he was guilty of criminal negligence, it being due to a misunderstanding of orders.

A HAPPY CATHERING

Of the Sunday School Class of Prof. Rayman at His Home.

The home of Prof. R. E. Rayman, on Avondale street, was the scene of a happy gathering last evening, including his Sunday school class of about 70 members and 30 others. The first of the evening was spent in enjoyable games, after which followed a literary and musical program. The music which was especially pleasing, was furnished largely by members of the class.

Prof. Rayman made an address of welcome, to which C. T. Austin responded, as a representative of the class. Rev. C. G. Jordan also made fitting remarks which were followed by a humorous recitation by Dr. J. Howard Davis. This most enjoyable event will long be remembered by those who were present.

BOSSES AND BARBERS HAVE NOT AGREED

EMPLOYERS NAME COMMITTEE TO MEET JOURNEYMEN.

The Points of Difference in the Scale Over Which Views Still Diffeffr.

An interesting meeting was held last evening by the association made up of the employing barbers of the city. The business transacted was mainly of a private character and could not be given out.

Some time was spent in a further discussion of the several demands made by the journeymen in a new scale recently presented. The bosses still maintain the position taken by them when the scale was handed to their organization several weeks ago. There are a number of clauses which they will not agree to, and upon the other hand the journeyman have given out that there are one or two points on which they propose to be firm, so that it is just possible the conference to be held between the two factions will be lengthy and interesting.

A committee of five was appointed at the meeting last night, who will meet with a like number from the journeymen's union and together they will go over the scale and endeavor to come to an amicable agreement.

NOT AS BAD AS PAINTED

How William Earp Found Conditions At English Potteries—Home Trade Good.

William Earp recently returned from a visit to England and was interviewed by a reporter from another local newspaper. He states that he was so badly misquoted that he has been ridiculed and censured by his friends. He claims he did not tell the reporter that the English ware was not in demand, merely mentioning the fact that there was little trade for the ware made for American markets. Their home trade, he says, is in good condition. He did not state that the workmen were gloomy over their prospects. On the contrary they are bright and cheerful.

He says he did not state that what work the men were getting is at starvation wages. The wage scale is on a par with that of America. He said nothing at all about finding iron mills in Ireland, and the iron trade in England is brisk, instead of being "worse than the pottery business" as he was quoted.

Thirty Minutes to Leave In.

John Connor, claiming his home to be in Pittsburg, was placed in the city jail last evening by Officer McDermott and a charge of drunkeness registered on the docket against him. He was broke this morning and he was given 30 minutes in which to leave the city.

Fined $2 And Costs.

William Smith was arrested last evening by Officer Aufderheide and this morning he pleaded guilty to a charge of drunk and disorderly. The mayor fined him $2 and costs, and released him upon a promise to squash the debt as soon as he obtains work.

Recently the vicious animal chased one of Mr. Weibel's children and the child suffered much from fright. It is said that the same dog made an attack upon a colored girl not long ago and lacerated her lower limbs terribly.

ANOTHER CONTEST ON THE GRIDIRON

Steubenville's Proposition For a Football Game With East Liverpool.

MANAGER WALSH FAVORS IT

And Proposes That the Teams Play For $100 a Side, Date And Place to Be Arranged—Local Players Confident of Winning.

The bitterness between Steubenville and East Liverpool over football has not died out. The chances are that the two towns will yet come together over this matter and there may be a hospital list. Twice have the teams come together. Once the game resulted in a draw. The next time there was a dispute over a decision and one team left the field. They are now trying to get together, and Steubenville has asked the Dispatch sporting editor to lend a hand and make things easy. Manager Jack Farren last night called up the Dispatch by telephone and said:

"The matter must be settled and we want to settle it by playing East Liverpool again. We want them to come here and play, but they have refused. We asked them to play at Toronto, but this did not suit. Now, the proposition of Steubenville is that the sporting editor of the Dispatch name a place where the game shall be played. That he shall select the officials and see that neither side has any advantages. Let us play it on neutral grounds. Steubenville is anxious to make a little money out of East Liverpool. If we cannot beat them they will get our money, for we are there to back our players. We hope East Liverpool will communicate with the Dispatch at once regarding the location of the game. If they will not listen to reason we will go to East Liverpool again, though it is hardly fair that we be asked to go there."

The above, in this morning's Pittsburg Dispatch, when read by Manager John Walsh, of the East Liverpool team, caused a smile to flit across his genial face.

"What do I intend to do? I am going to accept their proposition, and I hereby give you the permission to state that the East Liverpool football team will play Steubenville for a purse of $100 on a date suitable for both teams. It is natural for a team to want to play on their home grounds, but I will agree to play the game at Rochester and will also agree to let the Dispatch sporting editor name the officials. The teams entered in the game must be men who played last Saturday and those who were on the bench.
